BURKE NAMES OUR PHIL FOR PRESIDENT

Americus Club Banqueters Wildly Cheer the Suggestion.

KNOX SAYS NOTHING

Attorney General Moody on Administration's Attitude Toward Interstate Commerce.

HONORING GRANT'S MEMORY

"The Americus club nominated Benjamin Harrison for the presidency in 1887. Why should it not name Senator Philander C. Knox for our next president?" was the question Representative James Francis Burke asked at the annual Grant dinner of the organization last night at the Hotel Schenley.

The instant and hearty cheers from over 400 guests showed there was not a man present who did not believe it possible that the boom thus launched may lead Pittsburgh's honored son to the highest office within the gift of the people. Senator Knox smiled happily, but said nothing.

With Senator Knox as toastmaster, Attorney General of the United States William H. Moody and a score of others, men high in the councils of the nation, as honor guests, the greatness and the achievements of the Hero of Appomatox were glorified and all of the traditions of the club were carried out.

Strong Spirit of Patriotism.

The dinner was marked by a fine spirit of patriotism and that cordial goodfellowship for which the Americus club is famous. The guests from the start entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion and throughout the evening gave vent to their feelings by outbursts of applause whenever some telling remark would be made by the speakers. A fitting musical program was rendered by an orchestra, and the guests joined in singing when "America" or any other patriotic air was played.

The hall and tables were handsomely decorated with palms, and cut flowers. American Beauty roses and carnations predominating, and in every possible place on the walls were hung American flags and the colors of the city of Pittsburgh. Draped in the national colors, a large portrait of Gen. Grant overlooked the speakers' table.

Prominent Men in Receiving Line.

The banquet was preceded by a reception held in the library of the hotel. In the receiving line were W. I. Mustin, Robert Pitcairn, Representative Burke, Senator Knox, Attorney General Moody, Senator Boise Penrose, Representative James T. McCleary of Minnesota, Representative W. H. Graham, Representative James Gillett of California, Col. Samuel Harden Church, Representative S. C. Smith of California, Judge Steele of Westmoreland county, Dr. J. A. Brashear, Gen. B. M. Warner, H. J. Heinz, Representative A. J. Barchfeld and Prof. Willis Moore, chief of the weather bureau.

The guests assembled in the dining-room about 7:45 p. m., and it was not until after 10 o'clock that the speech-making began.

Knox for Greater Pittsburgh.

The Hon. Samuel J. Wainwright, president of the Americus club, introduced Senator Knox as toastmaster. Senator Knox received an ovation and in response said:

"And yet there are people who persist in saying that I have removed, or intend to remove my residence from the city of Pittsburgh. My gratitude is unbounded and my appreciation is most sincere for this cordial welcome which I receive at home. It is always a matter of pleasurable pride to come to the banquet of the Americus club, and each time that I return to Pittsburgh, her greatness and her magnitude and her peerlessness among the cities of the world impresses itself upon me more and more, and it is my sincere hope that before the Americus club again gathers around the board to honor the memory of that great commander, that the recent and sensible decision which the common pleas court has recently made will be settled by the authoritative utterance of the supreme court and we will have in fact the Greater Pittsburgh."

Senator Knox introduced Attorney General Moody as "the man, who more than any one else, had put into practice the theory that the law of the land is for the rich and poor alike."

Growth of Interstate Commerce.

Attorney General Moody had for his subject "National Justice." After speaking of the growth of the national department of justice and the important work it performs, he took up interstate commerce, saying:

By the constitution, from the beginning, congress has had the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states. There has been no change in the national power here. Over interstate and foreign commerce it has already been supreme. But there has been a wonderful change in commerce itself which, through the development of postal facilities, the invention of the telegraph and telephone, the discovery of steam and electric power, and the construction of the great steel highways for the transportation of possengers and freight, has overleaped the boundaries of the states. A few days bring to you the growth of the soil of Florida and California and carry back to their people the products of your industries. The commerce 100 years ago, save that which crept slowly along the great waterways and from seaport to seaport along our seacoast, was almost entirely commerce within the states. It has been largely transformed into commerce among the states, and by that transformation has escaped from the control of the state and come under the control of the nation.

Tribute to Senator Knox.

After paying a glowing tribute to the

ASTRONOMER'S ASHES SAVED BY HIS WIDOW

Just Before Earthquake Mrs. Keeler Goes to Cemetery and Bears Them to Her Home.

By a fortunate chain of circumstances the ashes of Professor James E. Keeler have been preserved to Pittsburgh out of the wreck of San Francisco. They will soon be placed in a receptacle which has been prepared for them beneath the big telescope in the new Allegheny observatory, according to the intention of the trustees of Western university.

Yesterday Dr. John A. Brashear received a letter from Mrs. Keeler, who is living in Berkeley, Cal., and who had expected to come east about this time and bring with her the ashes of her husband. In her letter Mrs. Keeler tells the strange story of the preservation of all that remains of the well-known astronomer, who was formerly in charge of the Allegheny observatory, and who, at the time of his death, was director of the famous Lick observatory in California.

Only a week before the earthquake Mrs. Keeler visited the cemetery in San Francisco where were deposited the ashes of her husband. They rested in a beautiful granite mausoleum, in the side of which Mrs. Keeler observed a small crack. Removing the urn which contained the ashes, she took them with her to Berkeley, expecting soon to start for Pittsburgh. As a result of the earthquake, which followed within a week, the cemetery, one of the finest in the Golden Gate city, is in ruins. It would have been a very expensive, if not totally impossible, task to have found the ashes among the wreckage in the city of the dead.

Mrs. Keeler also says that Professor Keeler's books and papers, many of which were of great value, were destroyed by the earthquake and fire. Mrs. Keeler will delay her coming to Pittsburgh for some little time because of the strain she has undergone in the work of relief for the victims of the earthquake, a work in which she is taking an active part.

HEROIC ACTION BY TWO.

Matron Kane and Policeman McLean Rescue Six Lunatics at Risk of Their Lives.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—Two heroes of the earthquake came to light today in Matron Kane of the Detention hospital and Policeman John McLean, who, although advanced in years, rescued the six insane inmates, took them safely to the Presidio and then worked many hours to relieve others before seeking rest for themselves.

The detention hospital in the city hall was crushed under the court wing of the building. Steward Manville was fatally injured, but Mrs. Kane and Policeman McLean escaped to the street. Shrieks from the imprisoned maniacs reminded the keepers of their charges and both went back and rescued them. Docile from terror, the madmen were marched many blocks to the Presidio. Mrs. Kane even worked as a nurse for 54 hours without rest. McLean reported for duty at once.

ACTRESS AUCTIONS A KISS.

One Touch of a Fair Girl's Lips Brings a Big Price at a San Francisco Benefit.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—(Special.)—A striking feature of the monster benefit given here in the Academy of Music today by representatives of every theatrical company in the city for the San Francisco sufferere was the auctioning off of a kiss from the tempting lips of Miss Edythe Gibbons, a member of the "Rosalie" company.

The bidding was most spirited, but Howard Dixon finally carried off the prize when he bid $100. Every detail of the benefit was contributed. About $6,000 was realized.

Money Comes Easy to Him.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., April 27.—(Special.)—John Helmer, who said he was a wealthy Pittsburgher, presented a check for $100 to the city committee gathering San Francisco relief funds, a few days ago. The check came back today marked "no funds." Helmer borrowed money from a business man here on the strength of his reported gift. He could not be found when sought.

CANAL TO TAP LAKE ERIE JUST EAST OF GENEVA

Tract Is Acquired Which Fixes Northern Terminus of Lake to River Project.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., April 27.—The lake end of the big ship canal to Pittsburgh will be about four miles east of Geneva. In the announcement of the closing today of the last five of a score or more of deals whereby 1,200 acres of land have been quietly acquired, is involved the final location of the Ohio terminal of the canal and the first actual step taken in that $50,000,000 venure.

This is the first actual purchase of land made for the big ditch, the plat purchased at a cost of more than $100,000 offering a mile of lake frontage for harbor purposes and what will eventually become, it is supposed, a new city on the lake.

The route of the new canal will extend in a "bee" line from the lake to Niles, O., from where the Mahoning, Beaver and Ohio rivers will be followed.

MAN CRIPPLES TWO WITH THE SAME SHOT

William Metz Sends Bullet Through Joseph Dougherty's Thigh Into S. P. Schlegal's Leg.

During a dispute yesterday afternoon at Tunnel street and Webster avenue, as to who should have the last drink from a bottle, William Metz drew a revolver and crippled Joseph Dougherty and S. P. Schlegal with one shot. The bullet passed through Dougherty's left thigh and lodged in Schlagel's right leg. Dougherty dropepd the bottle which broke, and all lost the drink.

Both men fell to the pavement and Metz started to run down Webster avenue. Screams attracted the attention of Special Officers Curran and Morgan, who captured Metz.

When the fight started Dougherty was raising the bottle to his mouth. Metz decided he was entitled to the last drink and when it was refused he dragged forth his shooting iron, and fired with double effect.

Neither of the men were seriously injured. They were taken to the Homeopathic hospital. The three are cronies.

IS DENIED A KISS.

Negro Shows Razor When it Is Suggested the 'Squire Indulge Osculatory Privilege.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., April 27.—(Special.)—It has been the custom, it is said, of justices of the peace in this county to kiss the bride whom they marry, but yesterday Justice Johnson of this city was obliged to forego the pleasure. A negro and his fiancee were married and when the ceremony was over, Constable Cornelius Haily, called the court's attention to an oversight—the customary kiss. Sliding his hand down to the tops of his shoe, the negro pulled out a razor.

"Look heah," Mr. Judge, if you take any honey from dem dar lips, I'll slash you with this razor." In the excitement the justice neglected to collect his fee.

TO REVOLUTIONIZE TRAVEL.

Mayor Tom Johnson Invents a Motor Capable of Attaining the Highest of Speed.

CLEVELAND, O., April 27.—(Special.)—Mayor Tom Johnson hopes to revolutionize all present means of travel and make possible a flight by rail from Cleveland to San Francisco in seven hours. He has invented a motor and is still working on his plans.

The car is built to run on an overhead track. At the highest rate of speed of which the motor is capable, the wheels would fly to pieces. Here shoes take their place. Powerful magnets take up the weight of the car and minimize the friction of the shoes on the rails. From Cleveland to Chicago, a distance of 342 miles, the trip that now takes eight hours and more would be made in 53 minutes.

OFFERING OF PITTSBURGH IS NOW $281,000

Relief Fund Continues to Grow and $300,000 Mark Will Be Reached.

Contributions to the local California relief fund are still being received in encouraging number, yesterday's receipts carrying the total beyond the $250,000 mark. Returns will be made to the committee today from the two benefit matinees given yesterday, while the recital to be given in Hotel Schenley tonight and the sacred concerts to be given in the Bijou theater Sunday afternoon and the Empire theater Sunday night are expected to further swell the total. Pittsburgh's offering will reach $300,000.

EDWARDS WILL FACE CHARGES IN COUNCILS

Walters Will Name Investigating Committee in Select on Monday.

CONSULTS RODGERS

Members of High Standing to Conduct Trial—Brand May Take Up Frankel Case.

SOLICITOR ADVISES COURSE

A thorough investigation—preliminary to possible impeachment—of the charges against Select Councilman Edward J. Edwards of the Second ward, accused of profiting financially in the vice traffic, will be instituted in select council on Monday by President E. R. Walters. This was decided upon yesterday morning at a conference of President Walters with City Solicitor Rodgers.

President Walters will present a resolution authorizing the investigation and naming the members of a committee to do the probing. President Walters gives positive assurances that the members appointed on the committee will be of the highest standing in the body, and they will be instructed to go to the bottom of the evidence which Mayor Guthrie and Director Ridgway claim they have obtained.

The investigation by select council will be restricted to Edwards, because Samuel Frankel, the other accused councilman, is a member of the common branch, and City Solicitor Rodgers has given the opinion that each branch must try its own members. The solicitor also said that before impeachment proceedings could begin in court it was necessary for councils to take action.

The city charter act of 1901 provides a complaint "may" be filed in court by 20 freeholders, but Mr. Rodgers construes the law as meaning this may be done after councils have investigated the charges and have found them well founded.

President Brand of common council has not declared himself, but it is believed that he will take similar action on Monday in the Frankel case. C. D. Tilbury, select councilman from the Nineteenth ward, said yesterday he had intended to consult Solicitor Rodgers, but he understood President Walters would make an investigation.

The police yesterday secured additional evidence against Common Councilman Samuel Frankel of the Eighth ward. Edith Johnston, a negress, proprietress of a resort at 43 Townsend street, which was raided Thursday night, said Councilman Frankel owned her house and the adjoining house, 41 Townsend street, and that he rented them for resorts. She said Frankel offered her $200, just after the present crusade began, to vacate the premises.

WEDDING RINGS FOR 'FRISCO.

Retailer in the Stricken City Places a Large Order for the Gold Bands of Wedlock.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(Special.)—What was probably the first order for jewelry received in this city from San Francisco since the disaster was contained in a telegram received today by a Malden Lane manufacturing company asking that 150 wedding rings of various sizes be rushed.

This is said to be an unusually large order of wedding rings for a retailer, and it is supposed he is meeting the demand from bridal couples whose marriages are being hastened because of the catastrophe.

MUST SHIFT KNOWLEDGE.

New York Students Becoming Round Shouldered from Carrying Books on One Side of Bodies.

NEW YORK, April 27.—"Hereafter, the teachers and principals in all the public schools of Greater New York will see that their pupils carry their books under their right arm on the even days of the month, and under their left arm on the odd days of the month. By doing this the pupils will not become round shouldered."

This is the text of an order of Superintendent of Schools Maxwell as given out by a city official at a meeting last night in Long Island City.

Lipton Cables a Relief Sum.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(Special.)—Sir Thomas Lipton cabled to his New York representative today to send $5,000 by telegraph to the relief fund in San Francisco. The money was instantly forwarded.

CHINESE PROBLEM IS SOLVED BY SAN FRANCISCO OFFICIALS

Mongolians Will Encamp Temporarily on Presidio Reservation and Permanent Homes for Them Will Then Be Provided at Hunter's Point.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—What to do with the unfortunate Chinese of San Francisco, a problem which has given the authorities considerable worry during the last few days, has been settled, at least temporarily. Since the destruction of Chinatown its inhabitants have lived on a large tract of land on the north side of the bay. Knowing the habits of the Chinese, the citizens' committee and the mayor feared that if even a few of them returned to thir old district and took up quarters, the entire Chinese population would follow, and the problem of moving them, which has agitated San Francisco for many years, would be as great as ever.

Therefore, when the suggestion was made that the Chinese be moved temporarily to a large open tract of land in the Presidio reservation it was adopted immediately and here they will find a resting place until arrangements can be definitely made for their permanent city at Hunters Point, a most desirable spot on the southern arm of San Francisco bay.

MAYOR ACTS AS MOTORMAN ON FIRST CAR

Traction Service Resumes and Many Stores Reopen in San Francisco.

CONFUSION IS ENDED

Rain and Cold Cause Misery. Harmony Among All Advised by Archbishop.

WORST OF DISASTER IS PAST

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—City and railroad officials and invited guests filled the first street car started on the run across the city today, Mayor Schmitz acting as motorman. Everywhere the sight of the car was greeted with cheers from thousands of pedestrians. A continuous service was re-established later in the day on several of the crosstown lines, and thousands of people were carried free of charge.

A cold rain fell for several hours last night and today, and brought additional hardships upon the people sheltered only by tents and temporary buildings in the parks. To further add to their discomfort, the wind blew a gale from the north all day, scattering dust and ashes everywhere, in some places throwing down the tottering walls of burned buildings.

Tonight is one of the most uncomfortable since the great fire and the lack of heat in the tents of the homeless as well as the houses of the more fortunate brings extreme discomfort.

Harmony and pledges of good feeling marked the meetings today of the various bodies of citizens committee and representatives of the army which are administering the affairs of San Francisco.

Confusion Is Ended.

The last sign of confusion and misunderstanding which disappeared and the first signs of the return to former conditions were the resumption of street car traffic in certain streets and the issuing out of the first permit for the erection of a modern steel structure on the ground occupied a few days ago by a less substantial building.

Archbishop Riordan appeared at the meeting of the citizens general committee and in an eloquent speech counselled harmony among those who are striving to bring order out of chaos, and predicted a city greater, more beautiful and a more striking example of American pluck and enterprise than the old San Francisco.

"Union should be our watchword," said the archbishop, "and whatever differences may have existed among the men of this community in the past should be wiped out. The Catholic church is among the very heaviest losers, but we are undismayed, and I come here today to tell you that the noble men and women over whom I have direction are at your service."

Archbishop Struck Popular Chord.

These sentences of the archbiship were enthusiastically cheered. Mayor Schmitz replied to these sentiments in a speech equally eloquent, saying the harmony already prevailed and whatever enmity may have been felt in the past was wiped out and the citizens of San Francisco had but one object in view: the immediate upbuilding of a new and better municipality.

Dr. Edward Devine of the Red Cross read the following message from Secretary of War Taft:

"Your telegram received. Please say to Mayor Schmitz and Mr. Phelan, how gratified the President and I are at the harmony which is prevailing in the management of the immediate work which has been done in San Francisco."

Dr. Devine announced that the military quartermaster would hereafter issue supplies only on requisitions signed by a member of the committee on the feeding of the hungry.

The question of resumption of wholesale business in San Francisco was taken up.

Thomas McGee said that wholesalers in large numbers were settling in Oakland, and that there was great danger that this settlement might be permanent, those who applied for locations there being required to take out leases for five years.

The mayor said this movement must be stopped at all hazards and that every facility must be afforded wholesalers to open temporary quarters in San Francisco.

Only One Story High.

The only limitation placed by the authorities was that the building should not be more than one story in height. The erection of permanent buildings must await the forming of the new building laws. The mayor appointed a special committee on wholesalers to aid in establishing wholesale houses in San Francisco.

Former Chief of Police Wittman of the committee on the resumption of business said there were now 300 retail stores of various kinds in operation in San Francisco. The obtaining of stocks for these stores was still a matter of serious problem. There had been unwillingness to open warehouses for the delivery of goods for fear of further military confiscations.

Mayor Schmitz informed Mr. Sproule that Gen. Greely had issued an order today that there should be no further confiscations under any circumstances. Mr. Dillman of the water committee reported little improvement in the water supply, but work is proceeding rapidly.

Chairman Dinen of the committee on building announced that the statement that $100,000 damage had been done to the federal buildings by blasting was incorrect. From personal investigation, he said, $10,00 damage, possibly, had been done, the loss being confined to the break-

HIGH-PRICED STOCKS FALL

Wall Street Experiences Violent Outpouring of Various Securities.

FRIGHTENS BROKERS

Hill Issues Are Blamed With Starting Avalanche Early in the Session.

DO NOT REGAIN STRENGTH

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, April 27.

Wall street had an exciting day today in which the bulls and holders of stocks were badly worsted. After successive declines in prices for the last six business days, there was a violent outpouring of stocks, mainly of the high priced issues, and at the noon hour the stock market became demoralized. From that time until the close all stocks were weak, and to discourage believers in higher prices there was a hopeless lack of staying or rallying power.

It was a busy day for the margin clerks in brokerage offices, for margins had been weakened day after day during the last two weeks and today proved to be the deluge for slimly margined accounts, much of the profit of the great bull campaign have been lost in the decline of the past week and today the outpouring of stocks of all classes, with particular regard to the high-priced shares, indicated that many accounts were slaughtered.

Hill Shares Start Avalanche.

The Hill shares, now known as the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific, practically started the avalanche of selling. Before noon, Great Northern and Northern Pacific had declined from eight to ten points and later in the day there were such sensational breaks as 25 points recorded in Great Northern and 15 points in Northern Pacific. Northwest preferred dropped 15 points and other high-priced shares suffered almost as severely. Selling of this character had a blighting effect on the speculative favorites. Standard railroad stocks dropped steadily until declines ranging from four to five points were sustained in practically all the leading issues.

In specialties, concessions had to be made in order to effect a trade. Colorado Fuel and Iron, for example, dropped nine points; American Smelting common declined five points. Steel Trust issues did not suffer in the general demoralization as much as did the other speculative stocks, but losses were recorded. The market was a liquidating one from the outset. While brokers were inquiring what were the causes which impelled the general selling, inquiries came from the customers over the telephone as to what was the matter with the market.

Blame Insurance Companies.

The first explanation that came to use was that insurance companies having been badly hurt in the San Francisco disaster, were selling their investment stocks to provide funds with which to pay their premiums. In addition, Wall street heard several companies would collapse as a result of the losses and these were the disturbing elements in the situation.

But as the liquidation continued interruptedly, experienced bankers stated the cause was not due wholly to that influence. It was pointed out that insurance companies would not liquidate a line of stocks in the urgent manner that prevailed yesterday and that their orders would not have produced the demoralization which ran riot at several periods today.

The concensus of opinion was held that important interests which have been trying to slowly liquidate their holdings in the market, decided upon new tactics and threw great blocks overboard at once.

Stories of Plunging Operators.

There were stories told also of plunging operators having been hit hard by the great disaster on the Pacific coast and that unable or unwilling to put up additional margins, finally ordered their stocks to be sold. Curiously, the stocks consisted in the main of high priced issues, the sale of which more readily affects a market than would the liquidation of a larger line of the speculative issues.

The bears operated very aggressively. Stocks were offered freely by them on a weakened market and the usual result followed. Young brokers became panic stricken and stocks were offered without due regard to the market's absorptive powers. The specialists in Great Northern told his friends that the break in that issue was due to the ruthless and amateurish manner in which orders were executed.

Use Hickory Switch on Man.

BECKLEY, W. VA., April 27.—(Special.)—Mrs. Arizona Caldwell and Mayona Cook met their stepfather, V. N. Horton, in the street today and attacked him with hickory switches. Horton beat a retreat, but they pursued and he received a severe whipping. The women allege that he made offensive remarks about them.

He (Senator Knox) is engaged, with his associates in congress, in framing a law based upon the nation's plenary power over interstate commerce which shall regulate, in the interests of the people, and with justice to the carriers the operations of railroads, which are such important factors in the prosperity of the people; so important, that I venture to say that, if throughout our history all the people had had equal and reasonable facilities over the highways of transportation, many of the economic evils of which we now justly complain would never have come into being. Combinations, whose power the people fear and whose operations at times appear oppressive to the public welfare, would have developed to the point of economic usefulness and would have stopped there. It is my belief that as time goes on the nation, by appropriate laws, will exercise more and more of its plenary power over the commerce within its control. To that extent the scope of the national justice will be broadened, deepened and strengthened.

A recent decision of the supreme court of extraordinary importance has indicated clearly how the national control over interstate commerce may be exercised effectively. This decision holds that the federal government is entitled to examine the books and papers of any corporation engaged in interstate commerce. There can be no more certain way to ascertain whether the transactions of corporations are lawful or unlawful, or of compelling those corporations to conform to the law of the land.

Club is Popular in Indiana.

The Hon. James E. Watson of Indiana spoke on "Grant, the American," and in an eloquent and heartily received address he lauded the principles for which Grant stood, both in time of war and peace. Mr. Watson said he could never forget that it was the Americus club which named Benjamin Harrison for the presidency, and this fact is still remembered by loyal Republicans of the Hoosier state.

Representative McCleary of Minnesota was introduced by Senator Knox as the "man who delivered the speech that broke the strength of the silver heresy in 1896."

Congressman McCleary spoke on "The United States," and after paying a glowing tribute to the memory of Grant, the soldier-president, said:

He who studies history aright will see that this nation is constructed on a great pacific political principle. It is the principle of federation based upon representation. Already we have the Dominion of Canada framed on the principle of this government. Australia is just about to form a government like ours. And the principle is extending its operation and will yet possess the earth.

This is not the first of republics in point of time. Other governments named republics existed before ours, but this is the first of real republics to cover a vast area. It is the first republic and the first country covering a vast area which has been so organized as to leave the management of local affairs to those most interested in them, while securing to the whole nation the powers needed for the common defence and the general welfare. Here first and best have been secured in our federal republic, "Liberty and union, one and inseparable, now and forever."

Regret Missing the Banquet.

Before the speechmaking began Gen. D. H. Warner read letters of regret from Secretary William Loeb, Jr., for President Roosevelt; from Vice President Fairbanks, Gen. Frederick D. Grant, Speaker "Joe" Cannon, Gov. Pennypacker, the Hon. J. Hampton Moore, Representative John Dalzell, the Siamese minister, the Japanese ambassador, who, however, promised to be present next year; Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury; Judge Alton G. Davis of West Virginia, Secretary of War William H. Taft, Representative J. Adam Bede of Minnesota, Gen. O. O. Howard of Burlington, Vt., and Representative Joseph C. Sibley.

The party or distinguished guests arrived from Washington yesterday morning accompanied by President Wainwright, Vice President R. T. McElroy, Secretary J. W. McCandless, J. Negley Cooke and Mr. Frye, the committee from the Americus club. The party left the train at East Liberty and was taken to the Schenley. At 10 o'clock an automobile sightseeing tour of the city was made and then, after a trip on the rivers in C. A. Painter's yacht, they lunched at the Duquesne club. Later in the afternoon the party took an automobile trip through the parks and residential district and visited the Colonial Republican club.

DOWIE INTENDS GOING TO ZION CITY SATURDAY

Deposed Leader Grants an Interview and Denies He Has Heart Trouble. Says He Is Tired.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, April 27.—In a voice, the firmness of which belied reports which have been in circulation for the last few days that he was practically on the verge of death, John Alexander Dowie, in an hour's interview tonight, went into a complete history of the troubles that have beset Zion City during the last few months. Although his voice was firm and clear, he was bothered with an incessant cough, and his features bore evidence of the ravages of disease.

"Rumors have been circulated that I am suffering from heart disease," said he. "I may be, but I am not conscious of it, and do not believe it. I am weary and have suffered great disappointment and perhaps when I was recovering from the attack of paralysis last September, I did not take as good care of myself as I should have done. I worked a great deal and I am a pretty tired man.

"I am going to Zion City tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, but I am not going to create a disturbance. I am going to talk to the people quietly. On Sunday I shall hold services in Shiloh tabernacle and again on Wednesday night."

COMPLAIN OF BARNSDALL.

Independent Operators Seek to Limit Pittsburgher's Holdings in Indian Territory Oil Fields.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(Special.)—A complaint made by independent oil operators concerning Indian territory and Oklahoma oil leases was discussed at the cabinet meeting today. Independent operators allege the department of the interior handled their leases in a manner which favors T. N. Barnsdall of Pittsburgh and other large producers. The President laid the complaint before Secretary Hitchcock to investigate.

It is alleged that Mr. Barnsdall purchased all of the Guffey & Galey holdings in the Indian territory and Osage nation for $1,250,000. The land included in this sale was 158,000 acres, while the interior department ruling confined one company's holdings to 4,500 acres. Barnsdall, it is claimed, by absorbing small producers, obtained holdings to make himself the owner of 400,000 acres. The independent operators say it is impossible for them to gain a footing in the Indian territory field. The department of the interior has taken up their cause, and the secretary has promised them that they will be protected against the encroachments of the larger operators.

TALKS ABOUT 'FRISCO.

Famous Civil War General Thinks Funston Entitled to Praise for His Work.

Maj.-Gen. Oliver Otis Howard, retired, late of the regular army, was in Pittsburgh between trains last evening. He was one of a party of G. A. R. officials en route from Burlington, Vt., to Cumberland Gap, Tenn., to attend a celebration at the Lincoln Memorial university, of whose board of directors he is president. As he walked up and down the union station platform the veteran talked of conditions in 'Frisco.

"The old soldier knows that first praise and then rabid criticism always follow the operation of martial law, and San Francisco is proving no exception to the rule," said he. "Gen. Funston deserves all the praise he is getting, though while performing his irksome duties he probably thought bitterly that criticism would fall on the soldiery as soon as the danger was past."

UNVEIL FRANKLIN STATUE.

Representatives of the United States and France Participate in Exercises.

PARIS, April 27.—The Franklin celebration, preceding the unveiling of the statue of Benjamin Franklin, presented to the city of Paris by John H. Hayes, the American banker of this city, was held in the Palace of the Trocadero this afternoon. The great auditorium was decorated with the flags and emblems of France and the United States.

Ambassador McCormick made an address that was felicitous in every respect. Prof. Albert Henry Smyth of Philadelphia delivered an oration on Franklin. A reply was made by Minister of Public Works Marthou as the representative of the French government. At the unveiling ceremonies Mr. Hayes formally presented the statue to the city. M. Chautard, president of the municipal council of Paris, made the speech of acceptance. The statue is a replica of the Franklin statue in front of the Philadelphia postoffice.

THIRTEENTH GAME UNLUCKY.

Crippled Crap Shooter Refuses to Heed Warning and Is Arrested.

Caught the thirteenth time in a crap game, John Carr, a one-legged Oakland youth, was arrested last night in the rear of the Iroquois apartments, at Forbes and Atwood streets, while shooting the dice with a number of white and black companions. Carr is known as an expert crap shooter and was in a dozen previous games raided by the police, but had always been released with a warning because of his crippled condition. His companions escaped last night, while Carr was taken to the Oakland station and locked in a cell.

CAMPAIGN FUND BILL MADE MUCH STRONGER

Foraker, Knox and Bailey Improve on Tillman's Bill Preventing Corporations from Contributing.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The senate committee on privileges and elections by unanimous vote today authorized Senator Foraker to report favorably the Tillman bill to prohibit insurance and other corporations from contribution to campaign funds.

The bill was amended by a sub-committee consisting of Senators Foraker, Knox and Bailey, and was made to apply to corporations of all kinds and to all elections for presidential and vice presidential electors; for legislatures where United States senators are to be chosen, and for representatives in congress. It makes offending corporations subject to a fine of $5,000, and an employe of corporations subject to a fine of $1,000.

The measure does not apply to persons receiving such contributions.

POLICE SEARCH HOUSES.

Paris Authorities Endeavor to Trace Source of Plot Against Government.

PARIS, April 27.—The widespread labor agitation took a dramatic turn today, when the police executed a series of wholesale searches designed to unearth an extensive plot against the public security.

The searches included the offices of branches of the labor federation and homes of labor leaders, prominent Royalists and Bonapartists and also a number of anarchists. The suspects among the Royalists and Bonapartists include the heads of several aristocratic families.

FATHER GAPON MYSTERY IS FURTHER COMPLICATED

ST. PETERSBURG, April 27.—The Father Gapon mystery has been further complicated by the receipt by the ex-priest's lawyer, Margolin, of Father Gapon's portfolio containing important papers and the key to a box in deposit vaults. The portfolio was mailed at Berlin, the address being written in a disguised hand. No letter of explanation accompanied it. The enemies of Father Gapon claim that the situation was becoming too hot for him and he planned a spectacular disappearance.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES WITH FATAL RESULTS

HARRISBURG, April 27.—J. F. Good, an engineer, was killed, and C. L. Lefever, fireman, and J. J. Wallower, brakeman, were fatally injured today by the explosion of an east-bound freight locomotive at Ducklow tower, Steelton, on the Pennsylvania railroad. The cause of the explosion is not known, but the theory is advanced that the engine struck a stick of dynamite which had been accidentally dropped along the tracks.

Fully 250,000 people are being fed.

The sixth concert was given by Luigi von Kunits and Severin O. Frank. The program included a Beethoven sonata for violin and piano, and a Paganini composition for violin. The concert next Friday night will be conducted by the Musical and Literary Trio, consisting of Anna Rinehart Lazear, reader; Kathryn D. McAllister, soprano, and Edith Latshaw White, pianist.

Good Whist Players from Pittsburgh.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—(Special.)—Among the bright lights of the Women's Whist congress are the 10 delegates from Pittsburgh. Each of these has won at least one pin for top score. Some of them have won two and three. Although the most brilliant players at the congress are not Pittsburghers, the Pittsburgh party is generally conceded to contain more good players than any other delegation present. The 10 are: Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Clarkson, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Graft, Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Garland, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. Ayers and Mrs. Patterson.

CROWD STAMPEDES TO GET RELIGION

Throng of 10,000 Eager to Enter Revival Meeting Toss Police Corps Aside in Mad Rush.

MANY OF THE WOMEN FAINT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, April 27.

A stampede on the part of 10,000 people, all vainly trying to jam into the Second Regiment armory at the same moment, a stampede that swept aside 16 big policemen as if they had been candlesticks and left a number of women fainting and shrieking in its wake, gave to the last general meeting of the Torrey-Alexander revival tonight an aspect of violence and uproar far different from the "peace" and "gentleness" which has been taught there during the last two months.

Although it was not necessary to take anyone to a hospital, at least a dozen unconscious women had narrow escapes from being trampled on, and many others had their clothes badly torn in the fearful crush.

The crowd surged toward the armory, the ones in the entrance being packed in so tight that women fainted and children cried out with pain. Strong men shuddered as they saw the struggle going on in front where policemen were hurling their heavy bodies against frail girls and women in a desperate effort to stay the force behind.

Serious injury, if not worse, seemed inevitable when the police yielded and the crowd, rushing in, filled the entire 7,000 seats in the armory within less than three minutes.

REFUGEES PASS THROUGH.

Party of 16 from 'Frisco Reaches Union Station Ticketed Through to the East.

A group of 16 refugees from San Francisco, with only two pieces of baggage among them, passed through Union station last night with free transportation and dining car service furnished them by the Pennsylvania railroad, en route to Philadelphia and New York to begin life anew. Only one of the party stopped off at Pittsburgh, J. M. Tobin, who lost a mother and two daughters in the disaster. He is a mechanic, who will try to get work here. None of the party had more than a few cents in his pocket.

The party is the eastern portion of a contingent of 500 that left San Francisco on a special train Saturday evening. Edward Gordon Johnson, owner of a millinery store on Mason street, who was in the party with his wife, declared the feeling among the citizens was that the lists of the estimated death list were based wholly on the number of the recognized dead, and did not deal with the unknown dead, drawn from visitors to 'Frisco, who were buried hastily.

The party included M. J. Collins, T. E. Church, Roy C. White, Harry Davis, Arthur Freeman, H. Brausch, Mark Otis, E. Dietrich, Joseph Harris, John McCrea, J. E. Fleming, J. F. Schulster, J. M. Tobin, Samuel Wishart, Edward G. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson.

NORRIS ANSWERS WOODS.

Declares Northwestern Agents Have Not "Twisted" Insurance Policies as Charged by Pittsburghers.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., April 27.—(Special.)—At the legislative investigation of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company today the alleged practice of the Pittsburgh agents of the Northwestern of "twisting" policies or replacing those of other companies by those in their own company was gone into.

Superintendent of Agencies Norris stated positively that the attitude of the company was adverse to this practice, and that certain agents mentioned would not resort to that practice. The practice of rebating by agents was also gone into, and Mr. Norris said if any agent or general agent of the company was caught rebating their contracts would be cancelled at once. Mr. Norris testified in answer to the complaints made direct to the Northwestern home office by E. A. Woods, general agent at Pittsburgh of the Equitable of New York.

VETERANS HAVE PARADE.

Eight Thousand of Those Who Fought in the Confederate Army Carry Their Old Flags.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., April 27.—For two days the confederate reunion has devoted itself to business—today was given over to the glorification of the cause that died long since, but still lives on. Eight thousand men were in line when the parade started for Lee circle, where thousands of school children formed a great confederate flag by ingenius grouping.

Several battle flags that had seen service in the civil war were carried in the parade, and all of them were objects of pride and regard by the crowd. The marines from the United States cruiser Columbia, and the national guard of Louisiana closed the parade. The marines especially were wildly applauded, their excellent marching and showy white uniforms catching the fancy of the crowd.

HORSE CREATES HAVOC.

Injures Three Men, Smashes Large Window and Wrecks Buggy.

Three men injured, a large plate glass window smashed, a buggy wrecked and a number of people frightened was the havoc wrought by a horse in Allegheny yesterday afternoon. The animal was being driven along East street by Frederick Zimmerman, a restaurant proprietor of 1301 Federal street, Allegheny, when it became frightened at a passing car. Zimmerman was thrown out and sustained a severe scalp wound.

The horse continued down East street to Ohio street, where it ran into the show window of the Jones Drygoods Company. Although badly cut it ran on down the street, and at Chestnut and East Ohio streets ran over Charles Schenlein and Eugene Pslent, injuring both slightly.

The Belasco Next Week.

Mr. Louis Mann and Miss Clara Lipman, two prime Pittsburgh favorites, will be the attraction at the Belasco theater for one week, commencing Monday, April 30, including Wednesday and Saturday matinees, in Clara Lipman's sparkling four-act comedy, "Julie Bonbon," which recently terminated a successful engagement of 14 weeks at Fields' theater, New York city. Miss Lipman has created a play that is replete with merriment, and one that is unusually interesting by reason of the subject matter.

Japanese Carpenters at Luna.

A half dozen Japanese carpenters have joined the force of workmen engaged in putting the finishing touches to the improvements at Luna park. They are remodelling the interior of the Japanese theater building and adding to and improving the woodwork decorations. It is said they all posses union cards and are members of a local of the Federation of Labor, which has its headquarters in New York.

ing of doors and windows by the explosion of dynamite.

The statement went out early today that a large body of Italian and other Latin races camped along the north beach were suffering from lack of shelter of any kind. This is not entirely true. The relief committee has had more difficulty in systematizing the work among these people than anywhere else, and much of their discomfort had arisen through their own ignorance of camp life. The unsatisfactory conditions, however, were considerably alleviated in this district today.

The finance committee late today gave out the following recapitulation of the subscription fund: Total out-of-town subscriptions, $4,617,688 43; local subscriptions, $213,350; total, $4,831,038 43; subscriptions promised but not signed, $590,400; grand total, $5,421,438 43.

At a meeting of the finance committee today Professor Andrew C. Lawson, chairman of the state earthquake committee, appointed by Gov. Pardee, made request for a small appropriation necessary to begin the work immediately. When questioned as to the practical value of the undertaking, Professor Lawson explained that recommendations might be based upon the effects of the shock in different geological formations, and added that the information so established would be valuable. The commission has already sent broadcast throughout the state printed inquiries requesting the fullest data obtainable.

In executive conference the finance committee decided that the request of the earthquake commission should be referred to some scientific institution, which would doubtless supply the funds needed to defray the expenses.

Chairman James D. Phelan of the finance committee reported that he had made arrangements whereby Superintendent Frank Leach of the United States mint would assume custody of all funds and would credit the amounts received from all sources to the relief and Red Cross fund, honoring drafts against it.

Chairman Phelan announced that he had available for immediate use $618,000.

While not included in the announcements, it was learned that the Canadian Bank of Commerce had contributed $25,000 to the relief fund and that the American Steel Company had made a donation of $10,000.

Gen. Greely, in his official report to the war department, says: "Summarizing, there have been reported 209 names of dead, while there are 147 reported unknown, of whom doubtless a number are among those identified later and reported by name. Of the persons in hospitals 290 are seriously injured, meaning those physically disabled either permanently or to such an extent as to prevent working for several days. There are 871 injured to such an extent as to require slight hospital attention, but not disabled for more than a day or two.

CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION.

Allegheny Politicians Plan Meetings to Talk Against Greater Pittsburgh.

Allegheny politicians are determined that Greater Pittsburgh shall not be, and to that end will leave no stone unturned to defeat the measure at the election. A campaign fund is being raised and it will be made sufficiently large to make the fight a live issue. The line of battle as laid out now is to educate the people.

By this is meant to have large public meetings in every ward in the city, where speakers will present arguments against consolidation. The speakers will be paid, and will be the most potent spellbinders the North Side can boast of.

By converting the people to their ideas it is expected they will be able to get a large majority in Allegheny, which added to votes of people in the East End and South Side who, they claim, are opposed to the consolidation, and the many in Pittsburgh who do not vote, they hope to defeat the measure.

FIRE CLEARS 2,500 ACRES.

Estimate of Burned District Reduced by City Engineer—Walls of Ruins Fall and Endanger Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—A trifle less than four square miles, or about 2,500 acres were burned over by the fire following the earthquake, according to City Engineer Woodward, who, today, completed an official map of the burned area.

A strong wind this morning carried to the ground crumbling walls partly disintegrated by fire. The walls of a building at Stockton and Sutter streets fell with a terrible crash. A number of pedestrians and a party in an automobile had difficulty in getting out of the way of the shower of bricks. The outer wall of a building at Market and Geary streets fell outward just as hundreds of people from the Oakland ferryboat were passing along Market street. Several persons were struck by bricks, but none seriously injured.

RAILROAD WILL VACATE.

Pennsylvania Decides to Abandon Liberty Avenue After Conference in the Mayor's Office.

Liberty avenue will be abandoned by the Pennsylvania railroad at midnight of May 6, and on May 7 the thoroughfare will be free from freight traffic. Work will begin then on the tearing up of the block pavement, which will be replaced with asphalt. The street car tracks will be moved into the middle of the street.

This was finally agreed upon yesterday at a conference between Mayor Guthrie, Director Clark and Solicitor Rodgers and N. F. Browne, assistant engineer of construction of the Pennsylvania railroad. The railroad will use a temporary switch connected with the elevated to reach the Duquesne freight station until the new warehouses are completed.

RAILROAD LEAVES CITY BRIDGE UNCOMPLETED

Lincoln Avenue Residents Angry Over the Long Delay in Construction.

Twenty-first ward residents are indignant over the long delay in the construction of the Lincoln avenue bridge, and are signing a petition to be presented to Mayor Guthrie and Director Clark. Parties circulating the petition claim only eight men are at work on the structure when there should be at least 100. Residents from the district beyond the bridge are obliged to transfer from one street car, walk across a foot bridge to a car at the other end, sometimes waiting as long as 20 minutes and being late getting to and from work. Hauling is done over the Larimer avenue bridge and it is claimed that structure is so unsafe that a horse went through the flooring yesterday and broke its legs.

The city began the construction of the Lincoln avenue bridge several years ago and then Director Bigelow suspended operations at the request of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which was building another bridge at the same point for the Brilliant cut-off and wanted the plans for the Lincoln avenue structure changed to afford a desired clearance for the railroad bridge.

MAY ADVANCE RATES.

Fire Underwriter Will Meet to Consider Raising Premium Charges.

The Pittsburgh board of fire underwriters will meet Monday to consider insurance rates, and the prediction is made among insurance men that rates on downtown properties will be advanced from 25 to 40 per cent and that brokers' commissions may be reduced. Any such action will be due to the losses sustained by the various companies by the San Francisco fire.

Rates in Philadelphia were raised 25 per cent and commissions reduced 10 per cent, and there is a belief that this basis of advance will be adopted here.

SUPPOSED KIDNAPING CASE SUDDENLY CLOSES

Late last Tuesday night the police bureau was notified that Angelina De Fazio, the three-year-old daughter of John De Fazio, of 803 Webster avenue, had mysteriously disappeared, and that her father feared she had been kidnaped. Last night word was sent to Central station that the search for her might as well be called off, for the reason that the child had been at her home ever since the morning following her disappearance. It seems that the child went to the house of friends of the De Fazio family, Charles Petrocelli and wife, Tunnel street, and spent the night there, and that this fact was not known to the father when he reported that she was lost.

O'BRIEN GETS ANOTHER "BLACK HAND" MISSIVE

A sequel to the 'Black Hand" letter sent to County Detective O'Brien about a week ago, was received by him yesterday. It is filled with profanity and threats, and says the writer fixed O'Brien before and can fix him again. It is written on a dirty piece of paper with pencil, and is signed "Black Hand." The missive is thought by the recipient to have been written by a friend of Michael Cavanaugh, who was arrested by O'Brien, and who will be tried in court next week on a charge of assault.

Will Not Be Disbanded.

Company G of the Eighteenth infantry was re-inspected last night at the armory, Craft avenue and Forbes street, by Major S. W. Jeffries, brigade inspector. Capt. Harry D. Fowler paraded 45 officers and men. Major Jeffries gave the rifle a critical inspection and found them all serviceable. The showing made by the company last night will now save it from being disbanded.

MOODY BOOMS SENATOR KNOX

Suggests the Pittsburgher as Presidential Timber for Republicans in 1908.

PENROSE TO MEET LEADERS

Senator Philander C. Knox for president in 1908, is the suggestion of Attorney General Moody. This announcement was made by the head of the department of justice very soon after he reached Pittsburgh yesterday morning to attend the Americus club banquet. The name of Senator Knox has been used frequently of late in connection with the presidency.

The reporters asked Mr. Moody whom the Republicans will nominate for president in 1908. The reply was: "You have a very good man in Pittsburgh. Senator Knox is an estimable man." Senator Penrose, who was with the attorney general, was asked about the Knox candidacy. He said: "The suggestion is a good one. Senator Knox is an able man."

Senator Knox came with the Washington party, but he was not talking politics. He has always declined to discuss his presidential boom. The suggestion of Mr. Moody was well received in Pittsburgh. It is a long time since Pennsylvania has furnished a president, and if the state is to have a chance two years hence, the senator will have plenty of friends.

Penrose to Meet Leaders.

Senator Penrose would not discuss politics yesterday. He spent the day seeing the sights of Pittsburgh and meeting a number of friends. Today the senator will devote himself to politics. He does not intend to go east until tomorrow night. Prominent Republicans from a number of western counties will be here today to confer with Penrose.

Representative J. Lee Plummer of Hollidaysburg was in Pittsburgh yesterday and returned home last night. "The six delegates from Blair county," said he, "will vote for Robert S. Murphy of Johnstown for governor. He announced his candidacy this morning, and I understand that none of the other gubernatorial candidates will register in Blair county. Blair, Bedford and Cambria are in the same congressional district and the counties will all instruct for Murphy. This will give him 15 votes. I hear more talk about the nomination of Justice John Stewart that any of the others mentioned for governor."

Former Auditor General Hardenbergh was here to attend the banquet. He is a delegate to the Republican state convention from Wayne county and has been instructed for Col. L. A. Watres of Scranton. "I do not know the number of delegates pledged to Col. Watres," said Mr. Hardenbergh, "but I am of the opinion he will have all the Northeastern Pennsylvania counties. I have not met anyone who is able to pick the nominee of the convention." Mr. Hardenbergh will stay here until tomorrow night.

Fix Election Date Today.

City Solicitor Rodgers will today request Judge McClung to fix June 12 as the date for the election on the Greater Pittsburgh proposition.

B. H. Stauffer, foreman of the March grand jury, yesterday presented a petition to the quarter sessions court in answer to the one from Select Councilman Stevenson of the Fourteenth ward, relative to the case of William Thomas, charged with illegal voting. The grand jury ignored the bill and placed the costs on Stevenson. The court has ordered the case presented to the next grand jury. Stouffer, on behalf of the grand jury, wants an opportunity to refute the charges made by Stevenson. He says the jurors will be able to prove the bill was properly considered, the district attorney conducted the case in an impartial manner, and the finding was in accordance with the evidence.

CANNON DOES NOT CARE TO BECOME PRESIDENT

Speaker of House Would Accept in Case of Nomination, but Is Very Well Satisfied Where He Is.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 27.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois, speaker of the house of representatives, will not dodge the Republican nomination for president if the party insists upon him taking it. He said as much today, but at the same time he stated he would rather be speaker of the house than president.

The speaker's statement was brought out by the announcement of a Republican newspaper back in his district that Mr. Cannon would be the presidential candidate in 1908. "The presidential bee is not buzzing in my head, nor about my cars, and I do not expect to be attributed through the buzzing of that insect," said Mr. Cannon. "If as representative and speaker I am able to contribute in the performance of my duties to the promotion of policies or the enactment of legislation which will bring the greatest good to the greatest number, the cup of my ambition will be full."

There is very little presidential talk heard here at present. Politicians seem to be more seriously concerned in the election of a Republican house this year than in the selection of the candidate for president. But the booms are still here, if not active. There is the Fairbanks boom, and the Shaw boom, and the Foraker boom, and the Taft boom, and several others, though none of them are attracting particular attention at this time.

MAYOR PROMISES A SEWER.

Citizens of Two Wards to Be Given Relief in Connection With Nine-Mile Run Pollution.

Mayor Guthrie has promised residents of the Thirty-seventh and Forty-first wards that the administration will use its influence to secure an appropriation next year to build a large sewer through the district now drained by Nine Mile run. The sewer will be two miles long, and is expected to cost about 50,000. The pollution of this run is said to be responsible for the fever epidemic.

Common Councilman Charles Gulland of the Thirty-seventh ward, called upon the mayor yesterday, and after laying the matter before him received the above assurance. After Councilman Gulland saw the mayor Select Councilman Charles Zollinger of the Thirty-seventh ward headed a delegation of citizens from the two wards into the mayor's office. They received the same assurances given Mr. Gulland.

REVENGE SEEMS MOTIVE FOR MURDER OF HOUK

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 27.—(Special.)—Revenge prompted the murder of Deputy Game and Fish Warden Selee Houk of this city, whose mutilated body was found yesterday in the Mahoning river near Hillsville. Coroner Joseph R. Cox found evidence of this today when $198.75 was found in Houk's pockets showing that robbery was not the motive. It is generally thought he was shot by Italians.

"Prejudice in Advertising."

"Prejudice in Advertising" was the subject of an address delivered last night before the Bankers' Ad association, in the Bank Clerks' auditorium, Wabash Terminal building, by Robert Frothingham, advertising manager for Everybody's Magazine. About 100 advertising men of the city were present, and the address was devoted to explaining that prejudice should not interfere with judgment in the matter of placing advertisements. F. R. Morrison of the Citizens Savings and Trust Company, Cleveland, made an address on bank advertising.

HARVARD TEACHER IS CHARGED WITH MURDER

Wife Treated by Faithcurists and Physicians Dies—Say She Was Poisoned.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., April 27.—The Cambridge police tonight issued a warrant for the arrest of Erich Muenter, an instructor in German at Harvard university, on a charge of murdering his wife in this city about two weeks ago. It is alleged Mrs. Muenter's death was caused by arsenic.

The body was taken to Chicago on April 17, but the case was not made public until this evening. Muenter was born in Germany. He formerly taught school in Chicago and before coming to Harvard, less than two years ago, he was an instructor at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, Kan.

On April 6 a child was born, and a faith cure practitioner and two nurses of the same belief attended Mrs. Muenter. She seemed to develop some organic trouble, and the husband summoned Drs. F. W. Taylor and Herbert McIntyre, but they withdrew because, it is alleged, their directions in treatment were not carried out. She died April 17 and Muenter applied to Dr. McIntyre for his signature to the death certificate, but he refused. An autopsy was then made and today an analysis of the stomach showed marked traces of arsenic. A warrant was issued for Muenter's arrest, charging him with the murder of his wife.

However, since April 17, when Muenter and the two nurses were permitted to take the body to Chicago for burial, his whereabouts have not been positively known here. A telegram from Chicago says Muenter left there after the funeral and said he was going to return to Harvard.

STRIKE IS CERTAIN NOW IN CENTRAL DISTRICT

Miners and Operators Adjourn Sine Die After Each Side Has Rejected Other's Proposals.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEARFIELD, PA., April 27.—The long-looked-for strike is virtually on in the Clearfield coal region and a vigorous contest is looked for, as both sides say there will be no surrender.

At the several meetings of the joint scale committee today efforts were made by the operators to secure concessions from the miners on the questions of open-shop and check-off, without success, and at 3 o'clock this afternoon the final session adjourned sine die without any agreement being reached.

Last night the operators offered what is practically the 1903 scale, but refused to include the check-off and closed-shop stipulations. The miners considered the proposition in separate session and this morning rejected it, and in turn submitted the 1905 scale, including the check-off and the closed shop. This the operators for the last time rejected, and all negotiations are off.

WILL PROTECT COMPANY.

National Union Insurance Directors to Underwrite $750,000 Loss Sustained by San Francisco Fire.

Directors of the National Union Fire Insurance Company of this city, which lost approximately $750,000 through the San Francisco fire, have begun the organization of an underwriting syndicate among themselves to meet this loss without impairing the capital stock, until an assessment can be made upon its stockholders.

All of the directors are men of wealth, and the success of the underwriting venture is beyond question. E. E. Cole, president, and A. W. Mellon, vice president of the company, left for New York yesterday, presumably to see H. C. Frick, who is a director.

Among the directors are such well-known financiers as A. W. Mellon, Leopold Vilsack, B. F. Jones, Jr., J. H. Lockhart, William B. Schiller, W. L. Abbott, T. M. Armstrong, J. Stuart Brown, H. C. Bughman, H. Buhl, Jr., H. K. Porter, F. J. Torrance, John Farrell, J. B. Haines, Jr., Charles E. Clapp, William Witherow and John Farrell.

GUFFEY MAKES NEW OIL COUP

Secures Morse Interests in Jennings Field by Purchase and Sends Pittsburghers There.

JENNINGS, LA., April 27.—(Special.)—The J. M. Guffey Petroleum Company of Pittsburgh, has made a big coup in the Jennings oil field, and has quietly acquired the Morse Oil Company here, although the purchase was made in another name, and is now practically in control of this situation. Recently the company purchased the holdings of the Evangeline Oil Company, one of the strongest companies here, owning much property and operating a pipe line to Deep Water, in the Atchafalaya bayou.

Now it develops that the Morse Oil Company interests recently acquired by T. H. Bass of Beaumont, Texas, were in reality secured for Guffey. Bass has taken charge for the Guffey company, and has brought men from the main office at Pittsburgh, to establish a branch office here.

DEATHS ARE OVERESTIMATED

Gen. Greely Declares He Will Make Careful Investigation, as Reports Are Exaggerated.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—It is the opinion of Gen. Greely that the number of casualties has been overestimated. "So many and grossly exaggerated reports of the number of deaths due to the earthquake have been sent out that we have determined to make a systematic investigation," he said. "For instance, it has been stated that 75 lives were lost in the Valencia hotel, but so far we have been able to ascertain, the loss did not exceed 20.

"I believe similar discrepancies will be discovered after a thorough examination of the records and search of the ruins."

Glass for San Francisco.

Window glass manufacturers and jobbers will hold a joint session in the Wool exchange, New York, next Thursday, to discuss supplying San Francisco with glass. Not only is the need great, but over 150,000 boxes in the warehouse of W. P. Fuller & Co., jobbers in that city, were destroyed. The present demand for window glass is 1,000,000 boxes monthly and the supply is only about equal to it.

Cummings Is Building Inspector.

Massage Establishments to Be Closed.

All the massage establishments of the city operating without a license, will be closed by the police department. Supt. GOOD GOVERNMENT PARTY IS FOR CONSOLIDATION

Organizing Its Forces, and Preparing for an Active Campaign for Greater City.

The Good Government party of Allegheny is organizing its forces for an active campaign for Greater Pittsburgh. The executive committee yesterday afternoon appointed Dr. S. S. Woodburn, George L. Crulkshank and A. C. Latimer a campaign committee. They will call a meeting of the ward chairmen and formulate plans for polling a large vote for the consolidation. Resolutions were unanimously adopted heartily indorsing the Greater Pittsburgh movement. It was contended that taxes would be lower; that the business district of Pittsburgh would extend into the First and Fourth wards, driving out the undesirable population, and that it would hasten free bridges.

Resolutions were also adopted with regard to the election of a district attorney next fall. It was decided not to nominate a candidate, but to appoint a committee to confer with other independent parties in case they cannot indorse the candidate of the Republican or Democratic party. It was contended that since the recent election showed the party was about 9,000 strong, they should have some voice in the selection of a candidate. Dr. S. S. Woodburn and Homer N. Young were recommended for appointment as personal registration commissioners. The recent action of Mayor Guthrie in regard to disorderly houses was heartily indorsed.

RETURN TO OLD FARM WHEN DOWIE REACHES LIMIT

Disillusioned Family Compares Greenville With Zion City and Sees Similarity.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENVILLE, PA., April 27.—W. L. Van Zandt and his family, who two years ago sold their farm and all their other possessions and went to Zion City to join the Alexander Dowie colony, have returned and will endeavor to buy back the old farm. Van Zandt says everything went smoothly until the recent trouble when the Zionists' property was thrown into the courts. Then all the industries shut down.

"Dowie told us to follow him so long as he followed Christ," said Van Zandt, "but I guess he reached the limit, and we decided to follow no longer."

The Van Zandts sorrowfully compare the conditions prevailing in Greenville with those of Zion City which they have just left. There no liquor, tobacco or profanity is tolerated.

FARMER WALKS 10 MILES TO BUY BEER, AND DIES

WOOSTER, O., April 27.—(Special.)—Ellis Hunter, a farmer living near Apple Creek, was found dead this morning near Fredericksburg, along the tracks of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus railroad. He is supposed to have been struck by a train while sitting down on the track. He had walked 10 miles to buy some beer, several bottles of which were in a basket near his body.

FOREST FIRE THREATENS HOMES IN FRANKLIN

FRANKLIN, PA., April 27.—(Special.)—Desperate work on the part of the fire department saved parts of the residence section of Franklin from being destroyed by a forest fire today. The blaze started in the woods adjoining Miller park. The handsome homes of Gen. Charles Miller and his sons, Maj. G. J. S. Miller and L. G. Miller, were saved by hard work. Several hundred acres of property were swept by the flames.

ROOTSTOWN FARMERS ARE ALARMED BY LEOPARDS

RAVENNA, O., April 27.—Farmers in Rootstown township are excited over wild animals that have been seen in the last few days. One large leopard and a small one have been prowling around the John Ickes farm since Wednesday. The animals probably escaped from some circus. A hunt is to be organized by the farmers and the animals either captured or killed.

Epilepsy Fits St. Vitus Dance

Are nerve diseases, and unless checked, lead to destruction of both mind and body. The weak, shattered nerves must have something to strengthen and build them back to health. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is a remarkable nerve tonic and stimulant. It strengthens the nerves, relieves the nervous strain, and influences refreshing body-building sleep and rest. Persistent use seldom fails to relieve these afflictions.

"I was taken with epileptic fits; had eleven in less than 12 hours. My father sent for our family physician, but he could do very little for me, and I grew worse every day, and at last they had three doctors with me, and I still got worse. My father heard of Dr. Miles' medicines and bought a bottle of Nervine and a box of Nerve and Liver Pills. I had taken only a few doses until I began to feel better. I took 12 bottles, and it cured me sound and well. It has been worth all the world to me. I recommend it wherever I go. You may use this as a life-long testimonial to the merits of your medicine, for I am enjoying the best of health, and feel that my life and health is due to this wonderful medicine." LEVY WILLIAMS.

Our Industrial Exhibition.

We desire to give notice this morning that our Industrial Exhibit will be continued all through next week. Many thousands of people have viewed the entire arrangement of industrial processes here this week, from the turning lathe, from our cabinet shop in operation, fifth floor, West, to the blanket loom in West Basement. Some people complain of the noise, but that is more of fancy than of reality. The dress goods loom makes the most noise and one can stand near and talk almost in an ordinary tone. It is worth putting up with a little noise to see the almost sentient machinery at work.

This Is Children's Day.

See That Your's Come and Enjoy It—Today.

Let the little girls of your family bring their dolls to the Stocking Counter today and have each doll presented with a pair of the Burson Seamless Hose. 25,000 pairs to give away.

Due notice has been given of this day set apart in the interest of children and the goods that belong to the youthful period of life; as a matter of fact, we've been talking of this occasion for two or three days past and we do not know that it is necessary for us to go into detail any further this morning. In our bulletin of last evening parents had pointed out to them that there were a great many things in this store solely for children, that they had scarcely any idea we handled—more things, probably, than they had thought belonged to the juvenile age. We don't know that we got everything, even as it was, for this is a pretty big store, and there are a good many divisional heads who are getting new things in every day, and it is just as likely as not that many new things are here for children that we have not yet told about in the papers.

We wish all children to come today to see each separate exhibit, beginning in the basement and ending on fifth floor. We wouldn't have them miss one—for at different places they will be given mementos of the occasion.

Merely to remind parents of the very little it costs to buy ready-to-wear things for children, as well as the requisites for childish dress, some few sections of yesterday afternoon's bulletin are reprinted this morning.

Pretty Millinery for Young People.

If there is any one particular division we look after with more than ordinary care it's the one where Children's Millinery is sold. We are cranks on youngish hats for young people, and our Children's Millinery has a great reputation for being designed for children—not an old hat on a young head. Here's some idea of what you will see in Trimmed Hats today:

If only Santa Rosa had suffered from earthquake, the day of wrath would have been appalling enough. It is a small city, but compared to the population of San Francisco it is now estimated that the greatest loss of life will have been sustained by Santa Rosa. The distress of the inhabitants and the almost complete destruction of property should put the smaller town on the list for the greater sympathy, because she has lost everything, and is not in the position of San Francisco to recoup herself so rapidly. We should consider the dead sparrow as well as the wounded eagle.

When the first automobile "chugged" its way into popular favor, and the same principle was applied to trucks and other vehicles the enthusiasm over the fulfillment of Mother Shipton's prophecy led many to predict that the day of the usefulness of the horse was past. Official reports refute this ill-considered prediction. Statistics show that in 1905 there were 17,067,702 horses in the United tSates, against 14,213,337 in 1890, and, better still, that the export price last year averaged $308.99, compared with $174.60 in 1892. From this it would appear that Dobbin is still in the harness and likely to remain there.

Pittsburgh sent $100,000 more in cash to San Francisco yesterday, making a total of $175,000 to date. Substantial additions were made to the Pittsburgh fund during the day and the $300,000 mark is now in sight. Benefit performances at two local theaters yielded $4,000 and further performances have been arranged for the near future. Each day the news from San Francisco continues more encouraging. The moneys are being distributed promptly by the various relief organizations, which are co-operating harmoniously, and 250,000 persons are being fed. Pittsburgh has made a splendid record for beneficence, or rather has sustained her already widespread reputation. Much was expected of Pittsburgh, and she has not disappointed expectation.

A disposition has been manifested by many congressmen to shorten the session of the present sitting of congress. If this spirit were provoked by a desire to curtail the ordinary or extraordinary expenses of a long session, it would be commendable, but it is not. This is a congressional election year, and many members of the house of representatives are anxious to get home to do a little fence repairing. They want to get back to the capitol, not so much for their country's good as for their own selfish sakes. There is some work of a most important character for congress to do, and any hasty action on the part of impatient members of that body will not be well done. Take time, gentlemen, else you may have no fences worth repairing.

Milwaukee's new mayor, the first Republican executive head of that city for some time, has had the courage to say after his election what he maintained before: that there is too much politics and too little business in municipal government. This is not only an encouraging sign for the better government of Milwaukee, but elections in other cities show that the people have taken on faith similar protestations of the mayors they have elected, some of whom have already begun performing in a most business-like way. It is now the duty of these reformers to continue to "make good" on questions that are in no wise political. They will be required to solve the civic problems of honest administration with the least expense to the taxpayers.

The statue of "the genius who freed America and shed upon Europe torrents of light, the sage whom two worlds claim," Benjamin Franklin, was unveiled at Paris yesterday in the presence of a distinguished gathering of Americans and Frenchmen. Though the statue is the gift of an individual, there was an official significance to the occasion in the presence of Ambassador McCormick and Prof. Albert H. Smith, special representatives of the United States government. A bright chapter in our nation's history records the timely aid extended by France due to the unfaltering efforts of Franklin. It is eminently fitting that this should be thus commemorated in the French capital.

Taking time by the forelock, the city health and police authorities are again preparing preventive measures against the dread disease tetanus, which formerly followed the celebration of Memorial day and the Fourth of July. The toy pistol and the giant firecracker in the hands of small boys have been the chief causes of tetanus, but owing to the vigorous campaign waged each year, the number of cases has been steadily reduced, until in 1905 there was not a single fatality in Pittsburgh from this disease that could be attributed to the celebration of any holiday. The Fourth of July, 1902, was responsible for 20 deaths from tetanus in Pittsburgh. Thus early, other cities are writing to learn of Pittsburgh's plans for the prevention of tetanus, a tribute to our authorities' enterprise.

Because two newspapers of Illinois have hoisted the banner of Speaker Cannon for the Republican presidential nomination, the scribes of the Washington press colony are heralding it all over the country that "Uncle Joe" is finally out for the nomination. It is noted, however, that Speaker Cannon was impervious to the most searching inquiry as to his own thoughts on the subject, declining to make any statement, beyond saying that he was glad the newspapers thought so well of him. Mr. Cannon's candidacy is neither improbable nor impossible, but it is a little too soon to go hunting for President Roosevelt's successor.

Americus Club's Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Americus club last evening, to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of General Ulysses S. Grant, amply sustained the organization's reputation for bringing to Pittsburgh speakers of national importance, who have something of interest to say. Attorney General Moody in the course of his remarks paid a graceful and merited tribute to Senator Knox, his predecessor at the head of the department of justice, referring particularly to his famous Pittsburgh speech on the commerce clause of the constitution and his subsequent official acts in initiating legislation which "made for himself a permanent place in the history of the nation." It is Mr. Moody's belief that "as time goes on, the nation, by appropriate laws, will exercise more and more of its plenary power over the commerce within its control," and that the exercise of this power will correct some of the more grievous economic evils now the subject of agitation. As Mr. Moody hints, this process will necessarily require time, but the problem of fuller control of commerce can be worked out with justice to all concerned.

Representatives James E. Watson of Indiana and James T. McCleary of Minnesota were happy in the treatment of their patriotic themes. The Americus club is to be congratulated on the success of its banquet, to which the participation of Senator P. C. Knox as toastmaster contributed in large measure.

The Trouble in France.

Paris is France to a far greater extent than London is England or Berlin Germany. Political or industrial disturbances in any part of the country are reflected, sooner or later, at the capital, which is the home, unfortunately, of an anomalous alliance of trouble-makers comprising such naturally discordant elements as the socialists, anarchists, revolutionists and royalists. The government, after its recent disastrous experience with riotous strikers and demonstration of its utter inability to cope with the situation, has been naturally nervous concerning the contemplated uprising on May 1, and troops are pouring into the capital. Thursday's statement of the prefect of police, that 28,000 soldiers would patrol the streets and reinforce the gendarmes on May day, was intended to stay the threatened exodus of timid citizens from the capital, and was reported to have had the desired effect, but yesterday's developments were far from reassuring. While the activity of the authorities in searching the homes of revolutionary agitators for proof of an alleged plot against the republic shows that the government is not sleeping, it also indicates the seriousness of the situation.

Minister of the Interior Clemenceau declares the fear of a social revolution is "absolutely chimerical," since while those in revolt may number a few hundred thousand, the vast majority of the people are interested in the maintenance of the social edifice. It must be admitted, however, that the government's policy of feeble protest against the industrial rioters has encouraged the "few hundred thousand" in their hostile program for the first of May. It would be a strange thing, indeed, if after all the warning it has received, the government should be unable to suppress the threatened demonstration of physical force in the streets of Paris. The day may pass, as has many another May day which looked threatening, without bloodshed, but the disease of discontent, festering in the body politic, is still there. A show of force may cow the advocates of violence, but the present weak government is just entering upon its troubles. The situation calls for strong hands and clear brains.

A Just Complaint.

Nearly every consular report made to the department of commerce and labor contains an almost stereotyped complaint as to the remissness of American merchants in filling orders. The goods ordered are either carelessly packed, and are practically worthless when they reach their destination, or else they do not come up to representations. When some little progress is made in localities in exploiting American products indifference or inattention to the proper filling of an order virtually destroys any good impression that formerly may have been made. The sameness and number of such complaints is singular, to say the least, when the American merchant is noted at home for living up to his contracts.

Quite an aggravated case along these lines is reported by the United States consul at Liege, relating the very just complaint of a Belgian importer of shoes, who sells to dealers from samples. This particular importer ordered a bill of goods from an American shoe manufacturer in July last, amounting to over $700, the goods to be shipped in the ordinary course. The goods did not arrive until March of this year, about nine months after the order had been placed. The delay in shipment is not so important as the fact that when the importer examined the cases at the Liege custom house the goods were not equal to sample; 80 pairs of low shoes were included in the shipment, which were not ordered, because the low shoe is not worn in that country. On account of the extraordinary delay in transmission and the inferior quality of the shoes the importer lost two of his best customers.

The American shoe, as is well known, enjoys a unique reputation abroad, but if the incident of the Liege importer is of frequent occurrence not only shoes, but other American products will be tabooed. Such transactions certainly do not add anything of credit to American business methods.

One of the Compensations.

Awful and appalling as was the upheaval and distress that visited the Pacific coast a far-seeing optimist remarked that as bad as it was it might have been more distressing. It is a wise philosophy that looks on a calamity of the proportions that has stricken San Francisco. Nevertheless it is true that every supreme affliction has its compensations. This is verified in the increased number of marriages that are taking place now amid the ruins of former opulence and among families of common everyday provident carefulness of the means they had so diligently struggled for.

It is greatly to the credit of engaged people that they have sought the marriage license court and the minister and immediately taken each other for "better or worse." These couples who have fulfilled their vows in distress will undoubtedly come to a better understanding in their honeymoon than others have been able to in a lifetime. They are having their stress now. Let us hope that such courageous hearts may have their comforts and joy after the clouds of enforced economy roll by. They deserve the best of the earth. They begin on practically nothing. If they are true hearts and brave souls in a few years they will prove the fallacy of the pessimistic axiom that "something cannot be made nothing."

However much the earthquake has proved to be an encouragement to matrimony, to bring to time diffident swains and demure sweethearts, the remedy can hardly bear many repetitions. It is much like the old man who suffered for many years from rheumatism, and being struck by lightning professed to be cured of his chronic ailment. No one so far has advised any rheumatic to stand out in the open and invite a like cure. Still the earthquake, the lightning, the storm, and the flood have a commingling good, a something that lets a blessing filter in through a shutter of despair that the sunlight of happiness never before tried to enter.

The Business Situation.

The quarterly reports of the United States Steel Corporation are always studied with much interest by the business man, because of the light they throw upon the general situation. This one published this week showed the largest net earnings with one exception for any quarter in the history of the corporation, and the amount of unfilled orders on hand has been exceeded but once. The recovery in the iron trade began in the fall of 1904 and made progress throughout 1905. The orders on the books of the Steel Corporation today are nearly 1,500,000 tons larger than a year ago and nearly 3,000,000 tons larger than at the corresponding date two years ago. The calamity at San Francisco means that a large and wholly unexpected demand for structural material must be met this year and possibly next. It may add to an appreciation of what this new demand is likely to mean when it is stated that in the year following the great fire at Chicago $40,000,000 was expended in building operations. The nation has grown immensely since 1871, and if $40,000,000 could be expended in new buildings in Chicago in 1872, it would not be unreasonable to estimate that double that sum will be expended in rebuilding San Francisco in 1906-1907. The enormous orders on the books of the Steel Corporation were placed before this new demand appeared, and it is altogether probable that the report for the June quarter will surpass all previous records.

The money market has been trying to adjust itself to the new demands created by the Pacific coast calamity. It is estimated that since the day of the earthquake the reserve-city banks east of the Mississippi have transferred more than $30,000,000 cash to San Francisco. The movement represents the preparations being made by the San Francisco banks for a resumption of business. There will be large withdrawals of deposits from San Francisco banks as soon as they resume business, and it is for the purpose of meeting this demand that the banks have been calling home their reserves. This movement has necessitated the shifting of large amounts of credits. Eastern borrowers, and particularly those who are operating in the stock market, have been compelled to pay off demand loans in order to supply funds for shipment west. The effect has been to stimulate the demand for money in the east, and this increased demand has resulted in higher rates for both call and time loans.

The withdrawal of funds from the east for shipment to the Pacific coast has been partly offset by importations of gold from Europe. Now that the Russian loan has been floated, it is expected that discount rates abroad will decline, and this should make it easier for New York to obtain foreign gold. The indications, however, are that the domestic money market will rule more active and rates will be firmer than in former years. The effect may be to temporarily depress the market value of investment securities, because there is always a tendency for the loaning value of money, and the yield on investments to establish a parity in the market. Business conditions, however, are sound, the currency of the country is equal to the best, and there is nothing in the outlook to cause discouragement.

Jerome K. Jerome wrote home to England: "They are going to have a new language here, not adapted solely to millionaries, but nevertheless quite an expensive affair, to cost $15,000 and to be delivered in six years." If Jerome is not careful he never will be invited to Skibo.

It may well be believed the people of San Francisco are not spending any time reading these theories as to the origin of the earthquake; but they would give something for a recipe guaranteed to prevent another one.

This is the kind of weather that makes a certain distinguished resident of Washington look with longing eyes in the direction of Oyster Bay.

The Chicago police are taking steps to prevent the crowding of churches on Sunday. This is a startling news item, considering the source.

Even after Pittsburgh councils have cleaned house, they will have to throw some disinfectant around, if these charges are true.

The president of France now realizes that heads other than those wearing crowns may be a bit uneasy at times.

Another statue of Ben Franklin unveiled. Franklin was a big man, but he got no statues until after his death.

San Franciscans now declare they will have the handsomest city in the world. There's pluck for you!

From all we hear, there is a possibility that if Mr. Castro comes to this country he will be Gorkyized.

Secretary Taft chipped off another pound yesterday. Now for an exciting finish!

If congress hangs on much longer, some of those fences will have to remain unfixed.

The Americus club adds one more success to its souvenir collection.

The mayor of Pittsburgh has refused an annual pass to the baseball games. If Pittsburgh had a club like that of Brooklyn, this wouldn't seem so strange.—Washington Post.

The World's a Stage and We the Players

Gossip of Men and Things on Both Sides of the Asbestos Curtain.

By Charles M. Bregg.

What was said in this column on Thursday with reference to the last performance of "King Lear" in Pittsburgh has created considerable discussion, but has so far resulted in no actual data as to the "Lear" performances subsequent to 1872, when Forrest played the role here. I am convinced, however, from all that I have heard, and from the old theatergoers, that Booth played Lear at the Opera house after his return to the stage, that is, some time in the 80s. On this subject a correspondent sends me the following from Harmarville, Pa.:

In looking over the paper today I note that you have started a discussion as to when "King Lear" was last played in Pittsburgh. I am not in position to state authoritatively the date on which it was last played, but I do know that it was played late in the 80s at the Opera house by Edwin Booth. I do not recall any of the company except Owen Fawcett, who played the Fool. Owen Fawcett, by the way, is probably the best actor of rude Shakespearean roles that America has ever seen, and could certainly deliver the goods at any time or place. CONSTANT READER.

Another correspondent says:

Apropos of the "King Lear" question, allow me to say, I am a young man, 40 years old, and remember very distinctly seeing the late Edwin Booth play the part at the Opera house in Fifth avenue. How long since I cannot recall, but it was surely later than 1876. I think it was as late as 1884. Respectfully, J. S. K.

"J. S. K." writes a supplemental letter in which he says that at whatever time this was, presumably 1884, Booth played "The Fool's Revenge" on Thursday evening and "King Lear" on Friday evening. I am told that Mr. Weis, who is still living in Pittsburgh, was leader of the orchestra at this time. Still another reader came in to tell me of a Booth performance, and one gentleman assures me that John McCullough played the role in Pittsburgh some time during the 80s. I shall leave the subject open, hoping for actual dates instead of memories. It may be pretty safely assumed, however, from this evidence, that "King Lear" had performances in Pittsburgh as late as 1884 by Booth and perhaps by McCullough.

Someone sends me a stray leaf from a volume of statistics on the theater, asking its publication. The figures given are now a year old, and if I mistake not were given sometime ago in the dramatic department of The Gazette. Their repetition in part, however, will prove interesting. "The United States has 2,000 theaters that cost an average of $100,000 apiece. All in all, $300,000,000 are invested. It costs an average of $2,000 a week to run a theater—rent, lights, employes. It costs, besides, $1,500 to $7,500 a week to 'put on the show.' New York theater receipts for 35 weeks, $11,970,000; Philadelphia, $3,000,000; Baltimore, $750,000; Chicago, $5,000,000; St. Louis, $2,000,000; San Francisco, $1,200,000; New Orleans, $500,000. "Stars 'as are stars,' make $50,000 to $150,000 a season. They get salaries proportioned to the money they draw to the houses. Miss Maude Adams has drawn a patronage of $19,000 a week. So has Mr. Mansfield; so, too, has Mr. Crane with 'David Harum.' 'Ben-Hur' receipts have run to $25,000 a week."

Coincidences are not rare in the world of the stage, but sometimes they are so striking as to merit special attention. Some 10 or 15 years ago a melodrama was put forward by a New York producing firm in which one of the leading roles was that of a stern young Indian warrior, "Swiftwind." The Indian was not so common on the stage then as now, and while this play was an ordinary melodrama of western war life, it was sought to give it an exceptional cast. The supplying this Indian role was one of the most difficult tasks. Finally a young actor, then hardly known beyond the limits of one or two New York playhouses, was selected. The impersonation of this Indian character gave the young man his first real taste of fame, and since that time he has occupied, if not a great place on the stage, at least comfortable positions.

More recently a young American player who had been leading man for a number of stars and had played all sorts of roles, from a clergyman to a society man, and had starred with tentative success in one play, had written for him a play in which an Indian was the central figure. It was this play that gave the young man his first permanent success, and I doubt not will fix his status as one of the most profitable young actors of the present day.

Thus it will be seen that the two young American actors reached their first milepost on the road to fame by playing the Indian. The coincidence may be briefly stated. Though years separated these two achievements, and the young actors have nothing in common beyond a personal acquaintance, they both appear in Pittsburgh shortly during the same week, the one a protean artist and the other still playing Indian.

✦ ✦ ✦

There is so much of helpful and stimulating comment being made these days upon the doings of the theater and its people, that the result is sure to be seen later in a higher demand on the part of amusement seekers. A correspondent sends me a copy of a little home magazine, published in the adjoining town of Washington, Pa., containing a defense of moral theatrical art by one of its readers that I much regret I cannot reprint in full here. Some speaker in a local church had attacked the theater and the letter in question is a defense of conservative but pertinent tone.

✦ ✦ ✦

Among other things this writer says: "There are, of course, abuses on the stage which all right thinking people would like to see done away with. How much better would it be then if those who speak in public places for the purpose of doing good, would show plainly the use of the theater when properly conducted, and preach against the abuses. All honest lovers of the theater would welcome its elevation to a higher plane and there are many noble-hearted actors and actresses who are working earnestly year after year with that very end in view."

✦ ✦ ✦

It is this sort of honest confession of the evils of the theater and brave plea for its elevation and restoration to the place it deserves to occupy, as an educational institution, that will in the end work out the salvation of the people from the violation of their responsibility in the matter.

Some Palatable Breakfast Food Served Hot

By PETER PRY SHEVLIN.

Heredity.

On shopping tours when hungry, tired
She'd tackle soda candy;
When weary, he always aspired
For whisky, beer and brandy.

She frequented a woman's club
To drink pink tea, with wafer;
While free-lunch cheese was his pet grub,
With beers—all he could pay for!

He told her she abused her health
With eclairs, fudge and pickles;
She cried—"For drink, you spend your wealth
That cheers you as it trickles!"

They married and when heir arrived,
His tastes they could not throttle,
Upon "two fingers" (thumb) he thrived,
Stick candy and—a bottle!

Peter Pry's Philosophy.

"If" is the worst word in the language.

A great handshaker is apt to be a great leg-puller.

Finding a wife is easy; losing her is a far different proposition.

A pathetic thing about charity is that the cost of collecting it eats up one-half of the receipts.

A beautiful woman after a few hours of vapid conversation becomes like six consecutive dishes of honey—nauseating.

The optimist smiles at the sunshine; the pessimist leers over his shoulder at the shadow he casts. What's your classification?

The "man with the muck-rake" is being outdistanced in Pittsburgh's suburbs by the man with the hoe—also known as the man with the backache and blisters on his hands.

Good Reasons.

Blinker—Why do you always call it the "face of the earth?"

Clinker—Well, it bears resemblance to the human face. Tidal waves wash it, earthquakes punch it, volcanoes cause eruptions, there's always "close shaves" from death.

The Ishmaelite.

"Once upon a time," begins the modern fairy tale.

"Yes?"

"There was a man named Gorky."

"Finis!" snaps the public. "That's the end of the story."

The Eternal Feminine.

And so it came to pass that many fashionable women from Pittsburgh passed through the pearly gates of heaven and were ushered into the celestial kingdom.

While overjoyed, they grieved because they were bereft of spring hats and summer finery. All went well for a time.

Suddenly there was a commotion, and the Angel Gabriel flew through the air, blowing an alarm on his golden trumpet.

"What's the matter, Gabe?" asked St. Peter.

"Those Pittsburgh women!" sobbed the seraph. "They are plucking all the feathers out of their angelic wings and trimming their halos with them!"

Used to Wreckage.

Now the earthquake shock strikes the town and lands the cheerful citizen dazed in the debris of his household furniture, with a cake of soap jammed in his mouth and a tackhammer gouging out his eye.

And behold! a rescuing party rushes forward to succor him. They find him grinning and chuckling in a dazed sort of way.

"You laughing at the ruin of your house!" they exclaim. "Are you crazy, man?"

"Yes, crazy with joy," chortled the cheerful cuss. "My wife always insisted on keeping a crayon portrait of my mother-in-law in the parlor, together with a wax-flower memorial of her first husband! Those things are smashed now—hurray!"

The leader of the rescuers proceeds to further question this remarkable individual.

"But don't you worry about the smashed furniture and the general wreckage?" he asks.

"No,' smiles the citizen. "My wife was just about to do her spring housecleaning, and we would have moved May 1st., the furniture movers would have done worse things to it than a dozen earthquakes!"

Thereupon they leave the cheerful cuss alone with his optimistic thoughts.

Lest We Forget.

Oh, do not make the blunder
While earthquakes echo yet;
It is no "nine days wonder,"
To pity—then forget.

The first shock of the sorrow
Brought gold from mart and mill;
Don't halt! Dark comes tomorrow
With aching voids to fill.

This nation, on the hustle,
In one thing should be slow;
As gold clinks, greenbacks rustle
Be slow—to halt that flow!

Practically the Same.

Jim—Some African tribes eat ants and locusts as food. Ugh!

Jack—Well, haven't you often eaten custard pie at a picnic in the woods?

Appropriate Exclamation.

Because he had no money saved,
"Alas, alack!" cried Jack;
He could not woo the girl he craved
And sighed—"A-lass, a-lack!"

A Terrifying Name.

What's the use of worrying over this country's calamities? Look at poor Switzerland! The citizens of Berne have formed a society called the "Vierdezillferangabeagitation-kommission-delegiert-enversammlungspetition" to fight the cafe proprietors who wish to increase the price of beer. Can a nation live with a name like that?

The Necessity of Money.

Smudge—You are purse-proud, sir! There are lots of things in this world that money cannot buy—things that are free to all!

Grudge—For instance, "free lunch." But just think of all the money it takes to stay where it is!

"I'm a tight-rope walker."

"No job for you here. I could use a rope walker, but no tight-rope walker. We insist on sobriety in this circus."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Traveler (at country hotel)—How much is my bill?

Landlord—Three dollars for a room for one night.

"But I didn't have a room; I had to sleep on the billiard table."

"Oh! Are you the man? Then your bill is $3 20 for eight hours' use of the billiard table."—Familia Journal.

"'Erc, I say 'Liza, we've seen this 'ere play before!"

"No, we ain't." (Wordy argument follows.)

"Why, don't you remember, same time as Bill took us to the 'Pig and Whistle,' and we had stewed eels for supper?"

"Oh, Lor! Yes, that takes me back to it!"—Punch.

Quiet Observations on Timely Topics

School Ma'ms Are Willing to Marry If the Men Are All Right.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

"Your article on school teachers interested me," writes a successful business man, "for I married one myself, and have never had cause to regret it.

"I may say, also, that she had been at the business for a good while, but she was none the worse for it. As a wife she is all that any man could reasonably ask, and as a mother she is perfect, being able to train and educate children as they should be.

"And I will say, that like all good teachers, she has a will and a mind of her own, but I wouldn't give a cent for a woman who hasn't."

✲ ✲ ✲

Another writes that he married a teacher who had been at it for over nine years, and he found that she knew all about housekeeping, besides being intelligent, well read and far more interesting than many other women he had known.

He also states that on account of his wife having been a teacher they have mingled much with teachers, and in all their wide acquaintances they can only recall one who has failed to make good as a wife.

It seems to be a fact that when teachers do marry they marry wisely as well. At least you don't often hear of them getting into trouble or going to the bad. You see, they have to be good girls to start with.

✲ ✲ ✲

Mr. Quiet Observer—I thought the reason school teachers do not marry was always known to people who go through the world with their eyes open:

There are four classes of girls—the society girl who will marry; the ambitionless girl who must marry; the scum who think there is nothing else to do but to marry.

Then comes the salt of womankind, which includes teachers. These marry when the right man presents himself, and not until then, even if that is never. And there are others like unto these, so many other good girls, that teachers are in the minority.

Being in the minority, and so tied up in her calling, the teacher has fewer opportunities for meeting and making impressions on men than has the woman whose time is her own.

Men rarely, if ever, go on the hunt of wives, but just fall in with those who haven't anything else to do but to look pretty and act sweetly. This is the reason that the society girl pure and simple is so successful in catching beaus. Were she only as successful as a wife it would be well.

Teachers are not bossy and dictatorial; they only seem to be. Their business demands decision, firmness and fairness. It is executive ability and not strong-mindedness. Men will find that such women will make better wives than the pampered beauties that catch their eyes.

ONE OF THEM.

Other things being equal, there is no reason why a professional teacher should not make a good wife, even better than one who has not been carefully trained along any particular line, for discipline always counts to the good.

It has sometimes been said that teachers are given to talking shop, trying to show off their smartness and feel themselves to be a little better than other folks.

There may be something in this, but it isn't bad, not half as bad as chaffing, talking nonsense and giggling at nothing.

But boys are apt to be caught by chat and amused by giggles, and they don't seem to lose their taste for it when they grow up. In point of fact boys indulge in chatting and giggling about as much as girls.

When a man marries you may set it down that he got what he was looking for, or at least what he thought he wanted. He may learn afterward that while he got what he wanted he didn't get what he needed. And maybe if he had got what he needed he wouldn't have been satisfied.

Only the fewest of men and women can tell exactly why they married at all, or why they chose the partners they did. They met, they said, and they married, and that is about all there is to it. Cool, calculating, deliberate marriages are not numerous, and as a rule not very successful.

For lack of a better word we sometimes say that marriage is a lottery—maybe you draw a prize and maybe you don't. But it isn't a lottery. We think we want what we get, but it turns out that it wasn't what we needed.

Born teachers, the same as born specialists of any kind, are better fitted for teachers than for anything else, and will find most comfort and satisfaction in teaching, and will make a greater success at it than anything else they may take up.

While many girls take to teaching merely as a means to gain a livelihood, the chances are that a majority of them have a liking for that kind of work, and some have such a strong desire to engage in it that they never give up until they get into it. Naturally enough, all such will become more and more absorbed in the work the longer they are in it, so that it finally becomes second nature, as it were.

Those who are in it only until they can get something better do not stay very long, as a rule, but find something more to their liking, a man, perhaps, or maybe a job in an office or store.

While we are born with tastes, or with special fitness for certain things, we can learn to like other trades and professions. As a matter of fact, only a very few are born with such strong predilections for definite things that they can't learn to do something else well, and with pleasure and comfort to themselves.

Therefore, it is most important that children should be so schooled, and so trained, that whatever they may find to do that they will do it well.

And when a taste for a certain kind of work is shown, or a choice of calling has been made, then they should be kept at it, and encouraged, or required, to stick to it closely, be it teaching, keeping house, or what not.

BOOKS AND BOOKMEN

By GEORGE SEIBEL

THE most important publication of the week, by far, is Volume IX of the Cambridge Modern History, dealing with "Napoleon," and issued by the Macmillan Company. Two works in the field of historical theology are issued by Charles Scribner's Sons, viz., "A History of the Reformation," by Thomas M. Lindsay, and "The Apostolic Age in the Light of Modern Criticism," by James Hardy Ropes. An interesting volume for students of the social unrest is a translation of Jean Jaures' "Studies in Socialism," published by G. P. Putnam's Sons.

Among new volumes of fiction may be mentioned "The Woman in the Alcove," by Anna Katherine Green; published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company; "Lucy of the Stars," by Frederick Palmer, published by Charles Scribner's Sons; "The Private War," by Louis J. Vance, published by D. Appleton & Co.; "The Lucky Piece," by Albert Bigelow Paine, published by the Outing Company; "In the Shadow," by Henry C. Rowland, published by D. Appleton & Co.

S. WEIR MITCHELL,
Author of "A Diplomatic Adventure."

MITCHELL'S PERENNIAL YOUTH.

A Diplomatic Adventure. By S. Weir Mitchell. New York: The Century Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 166 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.00.

FOR 77 years, Dr. Mitchell has a wonderfully spry imagination. Sophocles was past 90 when he wrote "Oedipus at Colonus" and Goethe was past 80 when he finished "Faust," but these are works profoundly reflective, filled with the wisdom of all those years. Just so I picture the author of Job and Jesus the son of Sirach to myself as gray-polled men sitting in the sunset, because their books are so sage and serene, weighted with the wealth of a long life. But Dr. Mitchell's new book is of another kind, and comes from his grave years as inappropriately as a pun from the pope. Ah, well, the venerable Wagner turned somersaults on the lawn of his Bayreuth villa, so let us condone Dr. Mitchell's egregious youth, especially since it bears such delightful fruit as this tale.

By its sprightliness it reminds one very much of "The Adventures of Francois," which also played in Paris, but by its ingenuity it challenges comparison with Conan Doyle and the redoubtable sleuth of Baker street. Indeed, Madame Bellegarde found a hiding place for her packet of documents even more baffling than the one where Dupin discovered Poe's "Purloined Letter." Dupin, Holmes and Lecoq would have needed all their wits to unearth the packet this American woman had concealed so cleverly.

The ruse by which the documents are finally secured is somewhat reminiscent of "The Purloined Letter," but aside from this Dr. Mitchell's pretty tale is quite as novel as it is interesting, and it has as many laughs as surprises. It is in the vein of Dumas at his best. Incident follows incident so rapidly, the dialogue is so rapier-keen, the interplay of chance and circumstance so admirably balanced, that one is carried along entranced.

Verisimilitude is not left out of the count either, for the story, told in the first person, bears such an impress of truth that the reader catches himself wondering whether it may not be true. Perhaps, during the crucial days of the civil war, when France and England were on the verge of recognizing the confederacy, a loyal American woman in Paris did steal just such a batch of documents as these, invaluable to the American ambassador, vastly important to her country. Of course, she would be watched and pursued just as she is in the story, and if she is quick-witted, and more patriotic than punctilious, everything may have come to pass as Dr. Mitchell tells it.

One of the most brilliant devices of the plot is the exchange of visiting cards which brings upon an innocent man three challenges to duels on the very day of his arrival in Paris. This matter is managed as neatly as the famous triangular encounter of which D'Artagnan was the hero, but Dr. Mitchell has not only extracted much amusement from the situation and the characters, he has also made it subserve one of the most daring denouements of the plot. That the French diplomat who is turning Paris upside down and inside out to find his precious documents should himself give them safe conduct across the border is a little master-stroke of ironical comedy. It was worthy of Madame Bellegarde herself, she who eluded vigilance at the masked ball by discarding one domino and kicking it under the sofa, having another costume beneath the first.

This makes the eighteenth book of fiction Dr. Mitchell has given us, and it is as fresh in invention, so breezy in narration, that like Oliver Twist his readers will ask for more. He was 53 years of age before he began his literary career, though he had published over a hundred scientific books and monographs before that time. At 27 he had offered his first book, a volume of poems, to Ticknor & Fields (the forerunners of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.), who referred it to Oliver Wendell Holmes. The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table advised the aspiring poet to withdraw his verses, assuring him that a man could not successfully cultivate two fields so substantially different as medicine and literature. Dr. Mitchell followed this advice until 1883, when, having devoted himself to his profession for 25 years, he felt that he might relax its severe pursuit to dally with the Muses.

The best known of the volumes he has since published are "Hugh Wynne," that admirable novel of the Revolution; "Characteristics" and "Dr. North and His Friends," stories and incidents from his professional experience; "When All the Woods Are Green" and "Far in the Forest," books deeply touched with the mystery of the woods; "Roland Blake" and "In War Time," novels of the civil war; "A Madeira Party" and "Hephzibah Guinness," stories full of variety; "Adventures of Francois," a novel of the French revolution; "The Youth of Washington," a unique contribution to Washingtonia; "The New Samaria" and "Constance Trescott," still fresh in memory. None of all these shows him in happier humor or more fertile vein than "A Diplomatic Adventure." May it not be that he has preserved this youthful buoyancy because he began so late, whereas most of our authors are soon jaded and empty because they leaped into the lists too soon? Dr. Mitchell at 77 is spryer than most at 27.

ALMOST A FINE ROMANCE.

If Youth But Knew. By Agnes and Egerton Castle. New York: The Macmillan Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 421 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

THE French proverb which inspired Mr. and Mrs. Castle's new romance, and half of which furnished the title, has already given a greater genius the text for a wonderful essay on "Crabbed Age and Youth." Stevenson's sage comment was: "Si jeunesse savait, si vieillesse pouvait, is a very pretty sentiment, but not necessarily right." The Castles not only assume the infallibility of the ancient saying, they pervert its sense sadly. It is an invitation to live—to pluck flowers while the May is with us—the chill fingers of November will grope in vain for violets on frozen graves. It is a call to joy—to leap and dance before the gout restrains us—to laugh and play while dimples still adorn the cheek and the sun shines brightly. Stevenson interpreted this gospel beautifully, bravely. But the Castles use it as an excuse for the silly misunderstandings of a rather stupid couple, and as the tag of a somewhat boresome vagabond who plays guardian angel and the fiddle—sometimes both. Like all crazy and tramp musicians in novels, he carries a genuine Strad with him wherever he goes.

There is a splendid theme in the old proverb, and the authors have come very near to writing a splendid story. Stevenson had cleared the way for them. "In five cases out of ten, it is not so much that the young people do not know, as that they do not choose. But the gullible wight and verdant damsel of the book do not know enough to choose. Never was a more pitiable couple exposed to the temptations and perils of a wicked world. Steven Lee does absolutely nothing that he is not told to do, except fall into an oubliette. Sidonia does absolutely nothing that she is told to do, except going on the errand which enables her to fall into the oubliette with Steven.

Leaving these silly children in charge of Geiger-Hans, it is worth while to look into that oubliette, which is a distinct novelty in a medieval burg. Ordinarily "time and storm" would wear the rock away; but here "time and storm" have provided a ledge under the oubliette, upon which the couple fall and are saved from being dashed to pieces far below.

If geology reverses her processes for these innocents, need we wonder that there is a kind or unkind fate at every turn to help them along or put them agley? Even history comes to the rescue, and at the opportune moment when the hero ought to be wounded, for the heroine to nurse him back to health, the authors let a battle sweep past him. It sones as suddenly as conscience after mince pie—it sweeps turbulently by, and then, like a magic-lantern Valkyrie ride, it sweeps back again. Our quick-witted hero, of course, hasn't had sense enough to get out of the way, so a Cossack hurls a lance and wounds him.

The story is full of such flimsy artificialities and feeble inventions. Chance has to help out at every turn. There are no less than fifty places where a little "if" would end the story. The authors have to push and drag it along by the most transparent devices, yet it is often a slow and painful progress. At a score of places there is promise of real adventure, but the promise is never fulfilled. Take, for instance, the character of the puppet king, Jerome Bonaparte, in his mock Versailles at Cassel. He appears early in the story, and seems cast for a Don Juan role, but he disappears promptly and comes on again only at the last, about as dangerous as one of the masher's that adorn public places. And take Burgrave Ludovic, who impresses one at first as a terrible ogre, Bluebeard on a vendetta, and is presently reduced to uxorious crawling because he failed in his plot of vengeance. Even the roystering students who surround Sidonia when she escapes from the palace, good-humoredly scatter when a watchman politely informs them that "this is no manner of behaviour."

And yet, speaking of the students reminds one that the authors have come very near to making a fine romance. The closing scene, when Steven returns to his room with Albignac and sees Sidonia on the bed, is really dramatic and romantic. And there is a whole chapter preceding that, the chapter where the three students are ransacking the royal mail, which is rich in genuine humor. Its "burschikos" tone recalls Sheffel and Otto Julius Bierbaum's raciest creations—it is as good a picture of the Teutonic student as has ever been put into any English book. Geiger-Hans' trick also, putting King Jerome's letter into the envelope addressed to Betty's husband, and sending her curt "Never" to King Jerome, is a pretty and ingenious turn of the plot.

Geiger-Hans himself, whom the Castles probably regard as the best thing in the whole story, is one of the absurdest and most inane creatures conceivable. He may scare Jerome Bonaparte with his fiddle, but he only bores us. He faints whenever he sees violets, and he is determined to get Sidonia married. We expect some deep dark secret of the past, some revelation of mysterious parentage to account for all this. Bah, and he is not even the Wandering Jew, only one of the French Encyclopedists, thrown out of a job by the rise of the historical novel, and lamenting a bride guillotined by the Terror! This guillotined bride is another kind concession allowed to the novelists by geography—she came of Breton stock, we are told, and two pages further, her father's castle is located in Lorraine. Which is equivalent to saying, if she were an American, that she came of a good Boston family and went home to the old plantation in Louisiana.

The book is full of minor blunders; thus King Jerome commits the sad solecism of saying, "Leave that gun alone," and Countess Betty of Vienna doesn't know that Oesterreich is of the neuter gender. The German quotations which adorn the chapter-heads are barbarously printed with the short s throughout, and an umlaut occasionally omitted where it will produce the most ludicrous effect. Such, however, is the impression of the whole romance. "If youth but knew—if age could do!"

ANOTHER OF THE FATHERS.

The Writings of Samuel Adams. Volume II. Collected and Edited by Harry Alonzo Cushing. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 459 pages. Price, $5.00.

The fathers of the Republic certainly had a command of terse, pointed English and always kept their rhetorical powder dry. Though they signed their letters with sonorous Latin pseudonyms—"Constant Reader" had not then been born perhaps—they filled the body with vivid Anglo-Saxon invective. Samuel Adams, the second volume of whose writings, reaching from 1776 to 1778, is now before us, was one of the most intrepid and uncompromising of the rebellious spirits, and these pages breathe defiance and determination. On behalf of this "distressed and insulted continent," and against its oppressors, he fulminated threats no more veiled than Patrick Henry's most famous speech. For servile apologists who counseled ignominious submission he had the most withering scorn, of which the letter to Aaron Davis affords the raciest example: "A—n D—s as a Hockster of small Wares, within the Bar-room; or laudably vending Milk and Water, might have grubbed on unnoticed and not superlatively contemptible, but when he so far mistakes his proper department, as to blunder into the field of politicks, and assume a dictatorial and offensive part, we are compelled with reluctance to scourge the insect, tho' convinced 'tis but an insect still."

BEGINNING OF OUR RELIGION.

Christian Origins. By Otto Pfleiderer, D. D. New York: B. W. Huebsch. 295 pages. Price, $1.75.

Prof. Pfleiderer, who occupies the chair of theology at the University of Berlin, is one of the greatest of living theologians. He studied at Tuebingen under Baur, the head of the higher critics, but made his way independently by a series of searching Pauline and Johannine studies and a profound analysis of modern theological movements. He represents the liberal theological ideals that have succeeded dogmatism and ritualism in the Protestant church of Germany. His book on "Christian Origins" (Die Entstehung des Christentums) must not be confused with "Das Urchristentum" (Primitive Christianity), a work for theologians, caviare to the general. The present book, fairly well translated by Daniel A. Huebsch, is the substance of a series of public lectures delivered at the University of Berlin a year or two ago. It begins with Plato and reaches to the rise of episcopacy. Hellenic and Judaic elements in Christian thought are carefully traced, and the evolution of the messianic congregation into churchly coherence is followed intelligibly. Naturally, the sections devoted to Paul and his influence are of the most direct controversial interest, but the work as a whole is intensely significant, revealing the modern viewpoint of rational theology, which has cut loose both from traditionalism and literalism, and professes "the real freedom of a conscience bound to God only."

A NASTY DOSE OF GORKY.

Creatures That Once Were Men. By Maxim Gorky. Translated by J. K. M. Shirazi. New York: Funk & Wagnalls Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 94 pages. Price, 75 cents.

Vodki, filth, brutality—disgusting and nauseating—here is a typical example of Gorky's work. The "creatures that once were men" are inmates of a doss-house, and are playfully called so by its proprietor. From drunkenness to wife-beating every species of degradation is exhibited, and there is not a ray of hope, nor one redeeming note, in the whole story, if such it merits to be called. It is an accumulation of vile sores, of repulsive and hideous scenes viewed through blood-shot eyes. It is terrible, and doubtless it is true. Gorky has seen these phases of life, and he writes of them with photographic ferocity. It is not pleasant to look upon, but perhaps it is salutary to know. As Alfred Loth says of Zola's novels, in one of Hauptmann's dramas, "Before Sunrise," they are medicine, not literature. This may be so, but at any rate it is a very nasty dose. Even the reflections of Gilbert K. Chesterton, who contributes an introduction, cannot take away the taste. To attribute it to "primal melancholy," or to the heredity of "black and cruel forests," doesn't make it more palatable to civilized men.

AN ENGLISH PRIZE NOVEL.

Saints in Society. By Margaret Baillie-Saunders. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 425 pages. Price, $1.50.

A hero whose face is a mixture of Dante and Napoleon, a heroine with discontented eyes of greeny gray—these are the promising ingredients of a novel adjudged best among a thousand or more manuscripts. It is really a strong and well-written book. The Dante-Napoleon is a printer who has the gift of eloquence. His wife is a Cockney girl who seems a hopeless slattern. How success mars the man's altruistic schemes of social salvation; how it makes for the woman's individual regeneration, is set forth with sympathetic insight and framed in a graphic realism of detail that brings Zola to mind. The style is wonderfully clear and dignified; the moral of the book is impressively brought out without profuse preachiness. But there is a decided flavor of the parsonage, nevertheless, which sometimes approaches very near to cant, and then we are reminded of E. P. Roe and the sanctified Sheldon.

SEEN BY A FRENCHMAN.

The United States in the Twentieth Century. By Pierre Leroy-Beaulieu. New York: Funk & Wagnalls Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. 590 pages. Price, $2.00.

M. Leroy-Beaulieu is an observant and alert-minded Frenchman who visited America during the year of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, and made exhaustive studies of our people and institutions. He was well qualified, if heredity counts for anything, his father being one of France's foremost economic authorities and his uncle the author of a book about Russia which has long been the standard authority. M. Beaulieu makes a detailed survey of the resources, industries and development of the United States, analyzes the characteristics of the people, and discusses the problems now confronting the nation—such problems as "the immigration question," "the race question," "the trusts," "the tariff," "railway control," and "race suicide." The volume is another illustration—like Bryce's "American Commonwealth" and the books of von Holst and de Toqueville—that the best view of America is gained by the stranger within our gates.

A HIGH PRIEST OF BEAUTY.

Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, O. M., R. A. By Percy Cross Standing. New York: Cassell & Co. 128 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

The pictures of Alma-Tadema illustrate his own axiom, "Art must be beautiful because Art must elevate, not teach." In pursuance of this axiom he has gone back to "the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome," and has rewakened them by the fire of his imagination. A Tadema canvas is a glimpse into the magic and poetry of the antique world, of Parian marbles and Tyrian dyes, of human grace and smiling nature. The personality of an artist who can recreate this world cannot be less interesting than that of a Millet who extracts poetry from the clod. Therefore Mr. Standing's biography and critical appreciation will be widely welcomed, especially by those who cannot avail themselves of Georg Ebers' book on the same subject. The illustrations, eight of them in color, are admirable.

A MUSICAL VERE DE VERE.

The Nonchalante. By Stanley Olmstead. New York: Henry Holt & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 247 pages. Price, $1.25.

Equipped with the bobolink name of Dixie Bilton and an altitudinous soprano voice, the heroine carries havoc into a German town by a nonchalance which would have put Lady Clara Vere de Vere out of the running. A dark and heavy sort of Kulmbacher humor pervades the book, but we decline to laugh even when Frau Schinkenheim appears in the role of Trilby. We refuse to be moved even after one of the heroes, having had a few cognacs, "felt the groaning helplessness of the sex which withers prematurely at first sight of the Nessus garment." A paragraph on the cover compares the author with Henry James at his best, which is "the most unkindest cut of all."

SCALPS AND TOMAHAWKS.

The Spirit of the Border. By Zane Gray. New York: A. L. Burt & Co. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 286 pages. Illustrated. Price, $1.00.

Uncas and Hiawatha stalk spectrally through the pages of this "romance of the early settlers in the Ohio valley." Cooper might have written it in the seance room—"tremendously inhibited" perhaps, but not as bad as Mark Twain paints him. The massacre at Gnadenhutten, when Christianized Indians were ruthlessly butchered by border ruffians, forms the climax of the book, which is full of whirling tomahawks, yells of rage, ringing rifle-shots and groans of agony. The smell of powder permeates every chapter, and the coroner is needed on every other page. But Wingenund and Lewis Wetzel are a welcome relief from novels of the smart set.

STUDY OF RURAL LIFE.

The Country Town. By Wilbert L. Anderson. New York: The Baker & Taylor Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin and Kaufmann's. Price, $1.00.

The city-ward trend of rural population, the abandoned farms and depleted villages that have caused concern to many thinking men, are the subject of Mr. Anderson's thoughtful economic essay. He traces the deterioration of rural communities to its causes, and believes in its reintegration by a new chain of causes and special remedies. Machinery, prosperity, the thirst for excitement and amusement drew people to the metropolis; now rural transportation and mail facilities, the revival of nature study and the satiety that longs for a simpler life are drawing the tide back from the city. The book is incisive, sensible and optimistic.

IN RUSSIAN AMERICA.

The Challenge. By Warren Cheney. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company. Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co. and Kaufmann's. 386 pages, illustrated. Price, $1.50.

Alaskan life has been portrayed abundantly in books of fiction, but it was generally the life of the American miner or trapper, and of the natives. Mr. Cheney takes us among the Russians, unfolding a drama of primal passions and superstitions. The love of Ivan for Motrya is a little idyl in the midst of ignorance and brutality. The death of Mikhail—literally frightened into the grave by a vindictive half-mad priest—is grim tragedy. There is a whirlpool in the bay, a terrible Charybdis, which ingulfs Motrya's father and the priest when they pursue the eloping couple. Although the story doesn't rise to any heights or sound any depths, it is interesting and well told.

JOAQUIN MILLER'S UTOPIA.

The Building of the City Beautiful. By Joaquin Miller. Trenton, N. J.: Albert Brandt. 248 pages. Price, $1.50.

A queer mixture of mysticism and socialism, of poetry and preaching, is this romance by the "poet of the Sierras." It is another Utopia, combining almost every conceivable fad from vegetarianism to an "honor" currency, always at par and better than 16 to 1. The people of the City Beautiful, however, are sadly misinformed about our Declaration of Independence. Someone should send them a copy of that document, so they may see that it does not assert that "all men are born free and equal." We also doubt whether the prospect of hearing the Sermon on the Mount read aloud during dinner every day of the year will lure many disciples of Debs to Mr. Miller's community.

REJECT MINERS' PROPOSITIONS

Anthracite Coal Operator's Committee Make Answer Regarding Plans Submitted.

REFUSE TO MODIFY POSITION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 27.—The anthracite mine operators, through their sub-committee of seven, at a meeting here today, drew up a reply to the latest proposition of the mine workers for the adjustment of the differences in the anthracite field in which they refused to modify their position heretofore announced. The operators call upon the miners to renew for a period of three years the award of the anthracite strike committee, or else to accept the operators' proposition that the strike committee arbitrate the question as to what changes, if any, shall be made in the scale of wages fixed by the commission in its original award. The miners have heretofore declined this offer.

Addressing President Mitchell and others of the miners' sub-committee, the operators in their reply today say:

We observe you reject our proposition of arbitration by the strike committee. Your statement regarding the proposition is erroneous. This proposition was in accordance with the view which we constantly urged that the award of the commission should be deemed conclusive as to any facts or issues within its scope. It is clear that this procedure would tend to dignify and strengthen the process of arbitration rather than as you suggest "Bring it into disrepute and ridicule.

Regret Rejection of Plan.

The latter result would follow if arbitration should never be regarded as final, but simply as a basis for further endless controversy. We regret, therefore you should have rejected what would clearly be the fair and logical course regarding any arbitration in the premises.

We observe that, as you suggest, you have abandoned all the various demands contained in your original communication, and that your present propositions differ entirely therefrom and concern merely the matter of wages. These propositions seem to be based upon the impression that wages in the anthracite industry are unduly low. Even before the advances which were made by its award the strike commission found to the contrary.

The operators, after giving figures in detail, say to accept the sliding scale of wages proposed by the miners would mean an increase in the price of coal to the public of 25 cents a ton. The present profit to the operators, they say, is but 29 cents a ton. The latter continues:

But if we disregard the sliding scale and assume you simply mean to add ten cents per ton as the final increase in cost, this would result in increasing the wages of our employes $6,100,000 per annum; that it, 10 cents per ton on 61,000,000 of output. We have shown you that in the largest companies the profit without interest and royalty has yielded less than 3 per cent on the capital invested. The operators, therefore, cannot afford to pay this large annual increase "without imposing additional burdens upon the coal consuming public."

Would Increase Price of Coal.

Your propositions are wholly inconsistent with our position in the premises, from which we have not varied. The strike commission decided what wages were proper on the basis of the domestic sizes selling at $4.80 per ton. It is decided also that for each advance of 5 cents in price, wages would be increased 1 per cent. The minimum rates of compensation were settled as the proper rates when coal sells for $4.50 per ton, and the sliding scale was arranged as the increase in compensation which was proper as the price advanced.

You have stated no facts varying from those passed upon by the commission. The advances made by the strike commission have practically absorbed the increase in price.

The conditions which have prevailed under the award of the strike commission have been as satisfactory as could be anticipated in view of the magnitude of the industry.

We trust that on Thursday next the deliberate judgment of the anthracite worker will result in an acceptance of the proposition, but if not that they will join with us in the arbitration we have offered. Failing to meet us on either proposition, the responsibility of a strike must rest upon you.

The letter is signed by George F. Bear, E. B. Thomas, David Willcox, W. H. Truesdale, Morris Williams, J. B. Kerr and J. L. Cake.

Mitchell Refuses to Talk.

SCRANTON, PA., April 27.—John Mitchell, who is visiting in Scranton, tonight was shown the announcement that the operators had rejected the new propositions. He read it over carefully, and without the slightest indication of surprise, disappointment or anything else, said: "I will have nothing to say until I have seen the official answer."

WRIGHT SAVES LIVES OF THREE

Pittsburgher Returns from San Francisco After Strenuous Experiences.

MR. AND MRS. JARVIS' LETTERS

Letters received from Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Adams of Pittsburgh, who were in Delmonti, on their way to Los Angeles, Cal., at the time of the earthquake, describe their experience and the damage done in Delmonti, which was great. They were in their room at a Delmonti hotel when the shock came and, although they escaped injury, other guests were injured by the falling of the high chimney of the building, and one young couple on their wedding trip met instant death, as has been told in the telegraphic accounts of the disaster. Mr. Adams assisted in removing the bodies of the young bride and groom from the mass of debris. Mr. Adams writes that at Delmonti great fissures in the earth opened and hot boiling springs threw water to the height of 100 feet.

John W. Wright, special agent of the American Car Tracing & Shipping Company, with offices in the Ferguson building, has reached his home in this city after a thrilling experience in San Francisco during the earthquake and fire period. He was in his room at the Winchester hotel when the first shock seemed to raise the building from its foundations.

He Saved Three Lives.

When it sank back he hastened to depart from his room on the second floor, but stopped before descending the stairs and rescued a woman guest in a neighboring room, whose shrieks caused him to break open her door and find her struggling under the weight of an immense book case which had fallen on her.

After he reached the street and was fleeing in his pajamas, Mr. Wright's attention was directed to a window on the sixth floor of the Palace hotel where a woman was screaming and preparing to hurl her infant to the pavement below.

He quickly ascended the fire escape and rescued woman and child. Then like thousands of others he tramped the streets until worn and weary he found rest on a lawn on Van Ness avenue. Threatened approach of flames and the soldiers drove him from there and for two nights he slept on the bare ground in Lafayette square.

Mr. Wright says yesterday to a reporter for The Gazette, after relating the above incidents:

I had only a few clothes on my back and the little money that I happened to have was soon taken up for food. I paid a dollar for a loaf of bread, 10 cents for two soda crackers and 25 cents for a cup of coffee. Thursday afternoon a woman living in Bush street gave me a suit of underclothing, a black shirt, a loaf of bread and a can of peaches. She also gave me a half gallon can and I felt that I was mighty well fixed.

Great Suffering from Hunger.

The sufferings of the multitude from lack of food and water was something terrible. The first relief boat which came Thursday from Los Angeles did not bring nearly enough stuff, as there were thousands who hadn't had anything to eat since Tuesday evening. With men who had been wealthy on the day before, I stood in line for hours, waiting for a drink of water. I saw some men licking up water from the street, where it had escaped from the broken mains.

WASHINGTON NEWS NOTES.

The President has sent to the senate the nomination of John Peterson to be collector of customs for the District of Minnesota.

The senate committee on privileges and elections discussed the Smoot case informally Friday, but took no action on account of the absence of five members of the committee. It was agreed to meet on Tuesday next to formally consider the case.

Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., former statistician for the department of agriculture, who had been indicted for conspiracy in connection with the cotton leak cases, appeared in criminal court Friday and pleaded not guilty to the indictment.

The state department has received the following dispatch from Edward H. Thompson, American consul at Progreso, Mex.: "Three American fishing smacks seized by Mexican gunboat. Particulars by mail."

State department officials are preparing a protest which will be submitted to Great Britain against the seizure of the two American fishing slips off the coast of Newfoundland. It will be based on the fundamental contention that the local Canadian governments have no right to pass laws which conflict with provisions of treaties between the United States and Great Britain.

The senate confirmed the nominations of the following postmasters: Pennsylvania, P. E. Hannum, Christiana. Ohio, L. E. Simes, Covington; E. L. Byers, Mechanicsburg; E. A. Gordon, Upper Sandusky.

The sky-rocket is an interesting affair. It is brilliant and spectacular, but you can't tell when it will fizzle out and drop. One thing is pretty sure, it will drop some time. The sky-rocket idea is not a happy one in the conduct of a business that is intended to endure. Sky-rocket publications are not the best mediums for the promotion of a sane, healthy business.

Neither The Ladies' Home Journal nor The Saturday Evening Post is a sky-rocket publication. By strong, steady, patient methods, these publications have advanced in size and quality, and have grown in the confidence and number of their readers, until now The Ladies' Home Journal has 6,000,000 readers per month, and The Saturday Evening Post 4,000,000 readers per week. Think of it! If one out of a hundred believed in you, it would probably make you rich. It only requires to show them.

Your goods have merit? Merit, plus demonstration, is better than merit alone.

RUSSELL DENIES WIFE'S CHARGES

Declares He Never Offered Her Indignities or Turned Pictures to the Wall.

MUCH TESTIMONY ON KISSES

Pastor C. T. Russell of the Bible house, Allegheny, denied all his wife's charges in her suit for divorce yesterday. Mr. Russell's attorneys asked that the case be dismissed, claiming that the charge of indignities had not been proven. Judge Collier declined to grant the motion or dispose of it until after the jury had passed on the evidence. The taking of testimony and the addresses of counsel were concluded yesterday, and on Monday Judge Collier will charge the jury.

When the case was taken up in the morning Mrs. Russell again took the stand. In 1896, she said, her husband was going on a western trip. She asked him to kiss her. He said he could not kiss a woman in whom he had not the greatest confidence and pushed her away when she renewed her request. He had not kissed her for a year previously.

A number of letters, which had been identified by Mrs. Russell, were read. In one of them Mr. Russell had written that their marriage was a mistake.

Mr. Russell took the stand and told of his marriage in 1879. He said he was president of the society now publishing the Watch Tower, and explained the objects of the organization. He denied that Mrs. Russell was interested with him in the publication. He never did anything to humiliate his wife, he said.

The story of the trouble with his wife, including the call of the committee—W. E. Page and M. M. Tuttall—who represented his wife, was gone into at length. This was in 1896. The conference opened on a Saturday night at 8 o'clock and continued until 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Russell and a Mrs. Sumner were also present.

Didn't Turn Pictures to Wall.

The charges made by Mrs. Russell, he said, were that he had not properly written the will of his father; that he had hung the pictures of Mrs. Russell's father and mother behind a door, and that he had demeaned her before a congregational meeting at the Bible house. He told the committee that his father had not made provision for a sister of the witness and at his suggestion this was changed. He also objected to a bequest of $1,000 for the Tract society, but his father insisted on it. He did not get a cent. On the allegation that he had humiliated his wife at a meeting, he said his wife was talking and taking up more time than she should and he interrupted her. She insisted and he allowed her to finish. He told the committee that she wanted the same privilege of publication in the Watch Tower that he had. Mr. Russell said that Mrs. Russell broke down and cried at this meeting and he kissed her, took her on his knee and was forgiven.

The meeting held on September 4, 1897, of which Mrs. Russell spoke on Thursday, he said, did not concern her, but the elders did decide to indict two women for slander. He defended his wife at the meeting because the alleged slanders might have been traced to his wife, and he knew she had nothing to do with them. He denied he had ever twitted his wife, ever said she was unfaithful or ever said she was insane. He could not recall the circumstance about refusing to kiss his wife, as told by Mrs. Russell.

Out of the Lion's Mouth.

Asked about Miss Ball, he said she came to them a girl in short dresses and was in the habit of kissing both of them good night. In his office he once sat on his knee and complained of the attentions a young man was paying her. She appeared to be about 18 years of age, but he had never heard her age. She came to him as she would to a father. In 1896 Mrs. Russell talked of getting a divorce. She said it would look bad if she told in court she found him in a room with Emily Matthews at 12 o'clock at night. He said this was a room where there was a pump. He was there, but there was nothing wrong about it.

Asked about a proposed reconciliation, he said he had replied to a letter from his wife that once having got his head out of the mouth of a lion he did not care to put it back again.

On cross-examination he denied again he had thought his wife insane. He was shown a letter dated June 4, 1894, in which he wrote that if he did not dislike the publicity he would ask for a commission to inquire into her mental condition. To this he said he thought Mr. Porter's question referred to the period prior to their separation. Later he said he thought Mrs. Russell was under the hypnotic influence of her two sisters. He also said Mrs. Russell had kissed him several times before she left him on November 1, 1897. He admitted that he had said Mrs. Russell's sickness was a judgment of God. He denied that he ever struck Mrs. Russell or ever called her a blasphemer. His examination was the source of many wrangles among the lawyers. He referred to his wife as "the lady," and this was dilated upon by Mrs. Russell's attorneys.

Mrs. Emily Cheeseman, who was Miss Matthews, denied that Russell's conduct toward her was improper.

PLEADS PENITENTIARY TO COUNTY WORKHOUSE

Judge Refuses Plea of Prisoner. Hogans Acquitted of Sheltering Silas Carter.

"Make it the pen, judge," pleaded John Dixon, when he was sentenced to a year in the workhouse for stealing chain from the Pennsylvania railroad. The court refused.

Acting under instructions from Judge Evans a jury brought in verdicts of acquittal in the cases of William and Nellie Hogan who were charged with being accessories after the fact to the murder of Policeman James Sheehy on May 19, 1902. They had given shelter to Silas Carter, who a few days ago was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter later and sent to the penitentiary for 12 years. Carter had assumed the name of Richard Lee.

For entering a building George Laughlin got four years and John Mitchell one year to the workhouse. John Briscoe, a negro, was sent to the workhouse for two years for cutting a man.

Suit for $10,000 damages has been entered by C. R. Green against Is. N. Singley, George S. Daugherty and Harry Tully, doing business at 101 Market street. He declares they charged him with embezzlement and that he was acquitted. He was an Anti-saloon League detective and he says the charge against him was brought up during the license hearings and his honesty and integrity assailed.

John H. Scully sues for $2,500 from the city of Pittsburgh, and a like amount from the Pittsburgh Railways Company, claiming his property on Janney street was damaged by the grading of the street and the laying of tracks for the Morningside branch of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

S. E. Steele, an East End electrician, sues G. P. Bassett, Jr., of 5919 Walnut street, for $10,000 for false arrest on a charge of stealing jewels which had been mislaid by Mrs. Bassett and were afterward found.

The injunction in the case of Ruben Slabosky, a Wilkinsburg shoemaker, against J. Gordon restraining the latter from calling himself the "New York expert shoemaker," was continued. Gordon was a former employe of Slabosky and opened a shop across the street.

The following divorce decrees were granted: William D. Montgomery against Josephine Montgomery, cruelty; Mary E. Cunningham against Frank Cunningham, indignities; Hettie C. Jones against William C. Jones, desertion; Lavenia Goings against Jacob J. Goings, desertion; William L. Gilleland against Alice W. Gilleland, desertion.

Charles P. Mugele and others filed a petition to have Edward W. Keenan of Monessen declared a bankrupt. They claim he has debts aggregating $6,000.

A petition has been filed asking that the Beth David, Beth Zedek and Sahoo Tikle organizations be merged under the name of the latter.

An appeal to the supereme court was taken in the suit of Amos E. Stengen vs. the Beaver Valley Traction Company from common pleas of Beaver county. Appeals to the superior court were filed in the cases of John M. Buchanan et al vs. T. C. Dawson, common pleas, Beaver county, and Albert Clauson vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, common pleas, Indiana county.

PE-RU-NA DR. HARTMAN'S FAMOUS PRESCRIPTION THE TALK OF THE CONTINENT.

READ AND BE CONVINCED.

Just A Few Of the Sincere Letters Written To Dr. Hartman By Honest People.

Owes Good Health to Pe-ru-na.

Miss L. Wall, 350 N. Dale street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"Last spring I had a very severe case of catarrh of the stomach and bowels. I was very much run down in strength and lost my appetite.

"I took three bottles of Peruna and found myself gaining very quickly in every way.

"I also had catarrh in my head, which has been entirely cured.

"I thank Peruna for the health I am enjoying."

The World's Greatest Medicine Factory.

The rapid growth of the Peruna Medicine Company is as phenomenal in the business world as the universal popularity of their famous remedy, Peruna.

The plant covers a number of acres, and employs several hundred people. No other medicine firm in the world reaches anything like the volume of business done by Dr. Hartman's firm.

Although Peruna is a proprietary medicine, the details of its compounding are in strict accordance with pharmaceutical discoveries and nothing gives Dr. Hartman greater pleasure than to show his intimate professional friends through the laboratory where Peruna is made.

A Doctor's Prescription.

For years Dr. Hartman used Peruna in his private practice as a regular prescription. He had no thought of manufacturing it or advertising it as a proprietary medicine until there was a demand made upon him by his many friends, who clamored for the original prescription.

Forty Thousand Patients.

Dr. Hartman estimates that he must have prescribed Peruna for over forty thousand patients before it was advertised as a proprietary medicine.

Relieved in Four Weeks of Severe Cold on Lungs.

Miss Josie Schaetzel, Gen. Del., Appleton, Wis., writes:

"I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs in very short order and it was not long until it developed into a serious case of catarrh. Every morning I would raise a lot of phlegm, which was very disagreeable. My digestion was poor and my lungs sore.

"After a few doses of Peruna I began to mend, and felt that if I kept on taking it, it would not be long until I would be well. I was right, for in four weeks I was well again.

"I think Peruna is a grand medicine, and wish to add my testimony to the many others you have."

Catarrh is almost universal. Catarrh is difficult to cure. Many doctors do not care to treat catarrh at all.

Followed Doctor Hartman's Advice—A Grateful Letter.

Mrs. Anthony Rauch, 438 Johnston street, Bucyrus, Ohio, writes:

"I was suffering from obstinate constipation and torpid liver when I took your advice and purchased six bottles of Peruna and Manalin.

"When I had taken only one bottle I felt much better and since I have taken two more bottles I feel entirely well, but I will continue taking the medicine for a short time to make sure of my cure.

"I think Manalin is one of the finest remedies for constipation that I ever tried. I will never be without it. It has made me so strong. I can do a day's work and never tire.

"I am so glad I do not get those dizzy spells any more. I haven't had one since I took your medicine.

"I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me. All sick people should give it a fair trial."

Pe-ru-na's Popularity.

Peruna is not like so many other remedies that pass away as soon as the first few bottles are used. The longer Peruna is used in any community, the more popular it becomes.

Pe-ru-na Actually Relieves.

The reason why Peruna has become a standard catarrh remedy the world over is simply because it eliminates catarrh.

Keeps Pe-ru-na in the House.

Mrs. Jessie Smith, 408 Buttles Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes:

"I have used your Peruna for catarrh of the head and stomach, and have been greatly relieved from it.

"Therefore, I cannot praise Peruna too much, and can recommend it to any one having the above disease, as there is nothing better.

"I always keep it in the house."

Finds Relief in Pe-ru-na After Suffering Twenty Years.

Mrs. M. S. Davis, 1505 Buena Vista street, Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"After having been a constant sufferer from catarrh for more than twenty years and after trying almost every remedy advertised, and having lost all hope, I very reluctantly began the use of Peruna about two years ago.

"Everybody says I look younger now than I did twenty years ago, and I actually feel younger and better, and weigh more.

"I am recommending it to my neighbors and all with whom I come in contact."

Pe-ru-na Removes the Cause of Catarrh.

Peruna has no bad effects upon the system and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Revised Formula.

"For a number of years requests have come to me from a multitude of grateful friends, urging that Peruna be given a slight laxative quality. I have been experimenting with a laxative addition for quite a length of time, and now feel gratified to announce to the friends of Peruna that I have incorporated such a quality in the medicine which, in my opinion, can only enhance its well-known beneficial character.

"S. B. HARTMAN, M. D."

Danger in Local Catarrh Cures.

There are a great many catarrh cures in the world. The most of them are local applications. Few of them are to be used internally.

Unfortunately, a large number of these local catarrh remedies contain narcotics of some sort. Cocaine, opium and other narcotics are used. These remedies give temporary relief. The patient thinks he is getting better right away. But in a few weeks he discovers his mistake. Not only is his catarrh no better, but it is discovered he is using narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind.

Peruna is perfectly harmless, if taken according to directions on the bottle. So used, it can be taken any length of time without acquiring a drug habit.

THE MARATHON MYSTERY

By BURTON E. STEVENSON,

Author of "The Holladay Case," "Cadets of Gascony," Etc.

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt & Co.

"Oh, no—she's a type—physically, at least. Mentally, I believe she does differ somewhat from the typical capresse. For instance, I never knew another attempt to fame a fer-de-lance."

"It seemed to me," I observed, "that she had as many possibilities as the snake."

He laughed lightly.

"For evil, you mean? That's merely the effect of the first view. Really, the capresse girls have an excellent reputation for docility and all the rest. Not that it would matter much in Martinique—the people there are used to living over a volcano and don't mind. Of course," he added, in another tone, "I shall, before long, have to break it off. Society, here, is differently organized—different climates, different morals, you know; I feel that I must conform to it. Indeed, I even wish to do so. It is time that I settled down, ranged myself, became a man of family—I have been a wanderer long enough. Cecily can't endure this climate, anyway. I'll send her back to St. Pierre."

"What will she say to that?" I asked, with a vivid memory of the adoring way her eyes always dwelt upon him.

"You think it sounds a little brutal?" and he smiled gaily. "It isn't, in the least. You've put Cecily on too high a pedestal. They have an axiom down there, 'Nee de l'amour, la fille-de-couleur nit d'amour, de rires, et d'oublis'—her life is a thing of love, laughter and forgettings. I think it's essentially true. At the same time," he added, more seriously, "I don't wish to be needlessly cruel. That's the reason I'm telling you all this. It's a sort of first production."

"Ah," I said, and looked at him.

"I'll have it out in a word. I'll be out of town next week—all week—my business demands it—and it's absurd for me to think of taking Cecily with me—it's absolutely impossible—it would ruin the whole affair. What I want to ask you is this—look in on her occasionally, cheer her up, take her to the theater, if you'll be so good. She knows no one here, and she has a ridiculous need of companionship, of chattering to some one, of having some one to admire her. It's born in the blood, I suppose; it's an inheritance from two centuries of ancestors. Left to herself, she'll soon mope herself sick. Will you do this for me, my friend?"

There was a compelling wizardry in his eyes as he looked at me, yet I had self-control enough to pause and reflect. Still, I saw no reason why I should refuse, even had my own inclination not greatly urged me forward. Here would be an opportunity to unveil such secrets of his as Cecily might know—especially as to where they had been on the evening of the murder. Perhaps she even knew the victim; could give me a clew to the connection between him and Tremaine, if such a connection existed—there were unlimited possibilities. And yet, a feeling of shame held me back. To take advantage in this way of a man who trusted me against whom there was nothing but the merest, most intangible suspicion——

I looked up and met his intent gaze.

"You were reflecting?" he said.

"Merely that it is a delicate trust. I'm not at all unwilling to undertake it, only——"

Again he misunderstood; again he did not wait for me to finish. It was the only weakness I ever detected in him—he made a false step that could never be retraced.

"Only you are flesh and blood, you would say?" and he shot me a smile which illumined as a lightning flash the depths of his character. "On that score, on that score, do not worry. I beg of you; I am not of a jealous disposition—I shall not——"

A knock at the door interrupted him, or I might have answered in a way that would have wrecked Godfrey's plan forever. I flung the door open and saw Higgins standing there.

"A call at th' telephone fer you, Mr. Lester," he said.

"Excuse me, please," I called over my shoulder to Tremaine, and strode down the hall after the janitor. So heated was I with anger, so shaken by this sudden revelation, that not till we were in the elevator dropping downward did I remember that Godfrey was in my bedroom. A sudden chill struck through me. Suppose Tremaine should take advantage of the opportunity to examine my rooms; suppose he should discover Godfrey——

It was too late now to avert it; I could not go back, so I went on to the telephone. It was Mr. Royce who wanted me; he had been called suddenly out of town and wished to give me some instructions for the next day. Our conversation lasted perhaps five minutes; then I hung up the receiver and mounted to my rooms. With a hand not wholly steady, I opened the door. Tremaine was sitting in the chair where I had left him and was just lighting another cigarette.

He arose with a smile as I came in.

"I must be going," he said. "And you will keep an eye on Cecily?"

"Yes, I'll be glad to," I assented. Surely, I need hesitate at no means to learn the truth about him.

"And be as gay as you please," he added. "You're doing me a great favor, which I shall take care to repay some day. Good-night."

"Good-night," I answered and closed the door.

As I turned, Godfrey walked calmly out of the bedroom. I waited till I heard Tremaine's door close. Then I opened mine softly and looked up and down the hall. It was empty.

"You're getting cautious," said Godfrey, as I closed the door a second time.

"Yes—I'm beginning to fear him. You heard?"

"Every word."

"And what do you think of him?"

"I think," said Godfrey slowly, "that he's one of the most consummated scoundrels I ever had to deal with. However, we'll unmask him—he's letting us into his citadel."

"Yes," I said, "and I hesitated——"

"I saw you did; and I was trembling for fear you'd refuse—your notions of honor are a little too finely drawn."

"I think I should have refused," I said, "if I hadn't been called away to the telephone, and so had time to cool off a bit and think it over. I don't understand yet how he came to strike such a false note."

"It's the Latin blood in him. They never can comprehend the Anglo-Saxon point of view."

"Perhaps that's it. By the way," I added suddenly, "that was mighty lucky."

"It was uncommonly lucky," he agreed, with an enigmatic smile.

"I mean his not looking through the rooms. I almost had a nervous chill when I remembered you were in there. But it was too late to come back."

"I'm glad you didn't come back—that would have spoiled everything."

"You mean he didn't sit still?"

"Not for an instant. I was sure he wouldn't; therefore as soon as I caught Higgins' errand, I dived behind your raincoat. Luckily, it's a long one."

"Yes—and then?"

"And then he took a quick look through the bedroom—I heard him open the closet door and drop on one knee to glance under the bed. Then he went on into the bathroom, and finally came back again to the sitting room."

"Well?" I asked, for I saw that there was something yet untold.

"Well," continued Godfrey, "after a minute or two, I thought it safe to venture out from under the raincoat, more especially as certain peculiar sounds from the other room awakened my curiosity. The sounds were a sort of slow, regular scraping."

He paused a moment to look at me; I could only stare at him.

"I crept to the door and peeped through. Guess what I saw! You never could guess, though. Tremaine was crawling slowly about the room, running his hands carefully over the carpet. He was searching for the diamond."

CHAPTER VI.

A Trap for Tremaine.

"Well," I said at last, "it seems to me we're wearing a pretty strong chain about our friend Tremaine. But why should he have waited this long to look for the diamond?"

"Perhaps he's just discovered its loss," suggested Godfrey.

"Or perhaps this is the first opportunity he's had. I've never before left him alone here, and I keep the snap on so that the door locks itself whenever it's closed."

Godfrey sat for a full moment motionless, his eyes fixed on the floor.

"Of course," he said at last, "it may not have been the diamond he was looking for, though I can't imagine what else could be. But I've a theory I want to test. Suppose we take a look at your room."

I followed him in and turned up the light. He glanced around keenly, and went finally to the closet, which was almost opposite the door leading into the sitting room. He entered the closet and closed the door behind him. After a moment I heard a scraping noise, and perceived a knife-blade working back and forth in a crack of the door. Finally the blade was withdrawn, the door opened, and Godfrey came out. He examined the lock, tried it once or twice with the key, which was inside; then he turned to me.

"What time do you leave in the morning?" he asked.

"About seven-thirty."

"Seven-thirty—very well. Now I must be going. Look for me in the morning."

"In the morning?"

"Yes—I'll explain afterwards. Now let me out softly."

"Wait," I said, for I too had a sudden idea. "You have a photograph of Thompson, I suppose?"

"Yes, at the office."

"Bring it up in the morning with you. I should like to look at it."

"All right," he said, and after I had made sure that the coast was clear he stole away upon tiptoe.

For a long time after he had gone, I sat and thought over the evening's events. In the first place, he had given me a complete and succinct story of the crime; I felt that I held in my hands all the details of the tragedy—all the threads that led toward its solution. As Godfrey had pointed out, the foundation was as yet too weak to support a theory—we needed more facts to build upon. The strands of circumstance we had woven about Tremaine were really mere cobwebs—any breath of wind might blow them away. Was there really any connection between him and Thompson? That they had both lived in the tropics proved nothing; and they could hardly have come to New York together, since the Tremaines had arrived at the Marathon fully three weeks before Thompson appeared there.

At least, I told myself, I could find out on which boat the Tremaines had come, since I knew the approximate date of their arrival. If Thompson proved to be a fellow passenger of theirs we had taken an important step forward; if not, some other bit of evidence might possibly be stumbled upon. That should be my task for the luncheon-hour tomorrow; till then, I would permit myself to consider none of the other details of the mystery—I knew how easy it was to get inextricably tangled in a maze of conjecture—and with this resolve I went to bed.

BIG BENEFITS NET $4,000 FOR THE FUND

Performances at Nixon and Grand Opera House Draw Fashionable Audiences.

About $4,000 was realized yesterday for the local California relief fund at the benefit performances given in the Nixon theater and Grand opera house. Exact figures were not obtainable last night, but it is estimated that the Nixon matinee netted over $2,000 and that $1,600 was realized at the Grand opera house.

The performance at the Nixon, in which actors and actresses from all local theaters participated, as well as some amateurs, was opened by an address by Mayor Guthrie, who dwelt upon the San Francisco disaster and the need for aid, and paid a tribute to the performers for volunteering their services and the audience for its patronage in the cause of charity.

Another speaker was "Cyclone" Kirkland, who made quite an impression upon the audience, clad in a loose-fitting dress suit with tan shoes and a yellow necktie. "Cyclone" announced his sorrow that San Francisco needed aid, and was reviewing his forecast of the earthquake when something went wrong with the lights which started to blink violently, and he left the stage without completing the address. The house was well-filled with a fashionable audience, and much money was raised by the sale of flowers and fans by actresses from the various theaters, who passed among the audience offering their wares.

At the Grand opera house the usual matinee was given before a standing-room only house, and proved a success from every standpoint. Many clergymen were in the audience, while members of exclusive social circles were present in large numbers. Probably the most plutocratic seat-holder was George Irwin Lai, a newsboy of Strawberry alley, who occupied a seat in the gallery for which "Tim" McMahan, the actor, had paid $100.

Receipts from these two performances will be turned over to Mayor Guthrie today, some time being necessary to make collections at the various newsstands, cigar stores and hotels where tickets had been left on sale.

RECKLESS SHOOTING CAUSES ONE ARREST

Youthful Militiaman Who Kills Small Dog Is Placed in the Guardhouse.

(By Associated Press to The Gazette.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—Ernest Wilder, a military sentry, is the first man arrested in connection with the charges of reckless and indiscriminate shooting by the state authorities. Wilder was taken in custody and disarmed by Capt. B. F. Rittenhouse of the United States marine corps, who turned him over to the police.

Capt. Rittenhouse charged Wilder, who is from Visalia and a private in Company B, Sixth regiment, National Guard of California, with leaving his post and "shooting up" the district commanded by Rittenhouse. The marines patrol the best residence part of the city left untouched by the fire, and are extremely jealous of the splendid order maintained without unnecessary harshness or stoppage of citizens. For several nights there has been considerable shooting in the vicinity of Ellis, Eddy, Geary and Fillmore streets where the districts of the militia and the marines touch.

Capt. Rittenhouse heard half a dozen shots fired last night, and captured Wilder who admitted shooting but once, claiming he thought he was shooting at a mad dog. "But if I killed a man God bless him," added he. Wilder is only 20 years old and was badly frightened. It was found that he had killed only a small pet dog. Wilder was advised "to go back to the farm," and placed in the guard house.

FORAKER JOKES ABOUT ENEMIES

Offers Concentrated Wisdom of Ohio Legislature as Amendment to Rate Bill.

SPOONER FINISHES SPEECH

Special Telegram From

J. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Senator Foraker perpetrated a joke on the Ohio legislature today, by introducing, as an amendment to the Hepburn bill, the broad court review clause from the law regulating rates recently passed by that legislature. This body, early in the session, adopted a resolution instructing the two Ohio senators to support the President on every rate regulation. President Roosevelt and the congressional champions of his policy, oppose the insertion of so broad a court review clause in the Hepburn bill, while Aldrich, Keen, Elkins and Foraker advocate it. Senator Foraker told the senate today that no suggestion for broad court review better met his views than this work of the Ohio legislature.

"I am glad to hear," remarked Bailey of Texas, drily, "that cordial relations have been re-established between the senator from Ohio and the legislature of that state."

"There has never been any lack of cordiality," replied Foraker, and, with a twinkle in his eye, added, "on the contrary, our relations have been warm."

Commenting on the court review clause of the Ohio law recently enacted, Senator Foraker said: "It is a broad, fair, well considered proposition and one that will satisfy me. This clause was the result of very careful consideration by a competent legislative body; one so competent that it was not content with mastering the technical, legal and constitutional questions involved in this great problem, but did not hesitate to instruct and advise the senators and representatives of the state in congress as well."

The irony of Senator Foraker's action and his comments of today are the more appreciated because the Wertz railroad commission bill from which the review clause is taken, was the work of railroad attorneys, gathered to oppose the two-cent fare law, and the Ohio legislature, while it passed this not, viewed it with a chilly and suspicious expression, once its antecedents were established. State Representative B. W. Baldwin of Ashtabula county, chairman of the house finance committee and an enthusiastic booster for Foraker as a presidential candidate, when asked what results the Wertz law would produce, said: "Several well paid political jobs for the men who are appointed commissioners."

In concluding today his two days' speech on the railroad rate bill, Mr. Spooner took cognizance of the charge of misquotations against himself, which he said had been made in connection with Mr. Bailey's speech, though not in the speech, and quoted at length from his previous remarks to show that the criticism had been without foundation. Mr. Bailey disavowed any intention to reflect upon the Wisconsin senator, either in his public address or in private conversation, but said that privately he had expressed the opinion that Mr. Spooner had not made personal examination of the authorities cited by him. Mr. Spooner spoke for two hours, again devoting his attention largely to Mr. Bailey's non-suspension amendment to the rate bill.

There was more discussion of the necessity for fixing a day for a vote on the rate bill and Mr. Tillman gave notice that after next Monday he would insist that the senate shall proceed to vote if senators are not prepared to speak.

All the private pension bills on the calendar were passed during the day.

WILLIAMS TALKS ON TARIFF.

Democratic Representative Stands Fire of Republican Members of the House for Two Hours.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The tariff debate which was precipitated upon the house yesterday through the speeches of Mr. Boutell (Ill.) and Mr. Hepburn (Iowa), was further continued today, by Mr. Williams (Miss.), the minority leader, who early in the day arranged to reply to them. For two hours, Mr. Williams stood the fire of the Republicans, holding the attention of the members throughout his presentation of the Democratic doctrine of tariff for revenue only.

Without concluding, owing to his physical condition, Mr. Williams will finish his address tomorrow. The house passed an emergency appropriation bill carrying $170,000 for the benefit of the sufferers at San Francisco and the employment of laborers at Mare Island navy yard. During the day 85 pension bills were passed.

METCALF REPORTS DEATHS AT 300

Secretary of Commerce Says Commercial Losses in San Francisco Are Appalling.

PEOPLE BRAVE AND HOPEFUL

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Secretary Metcalf, who went to San Francisco as the representative of the national administration, with instructions from the President to report to him regarding the conditions in the stricken city as he should find them, has wired the President a complete summary of the situation. He thinks the loss of life will not exceed 300, the injured being about 1,000. The loss to government buildings is not so heavy as the early reports indicated.

Secretary Metcalf says, however, that the industrial and commercial losses are appalling. There is no suffering from lack of provisions or water. Everything considered, the health of the people is excellent. The people are confident and hopeful. The secretary recommends that congress make appropriations at once for the repair and reconstruction of government buildings.

Following are extracts from Secretary Metcalf's report:

Not only have the business and industrial houses and establishments of one-half million people disappeared, leaving them destitute financially and their means of livelihood temporarily gone, but the complicated system of transportation has been almost entirely destroyed. The hilly configuration of San Francisco made the movements by street railway almost indispensable. Over the city's area of 25 square miles the entire system of railways was damaged or destroyed and has not as yet been operated. The scanty supply of animals and carriages remaining after the fire has been largely impressed into civil and military service in order to prevent starvation. The entire telegraphic and telephonic systems were destroyed, making communication impossible.

Practically every municipal building is destroyed, forcing the city officials into scanty quarters necessarily situated in localities difficult of access owing to distances and lack of transportation. Three hundred thousand people were rendered homeless, and their ordinary methods for providing themselves with food, clothing and shelter being entirely destroyed, their feeding and sheltering demanded extraordinary action.

The efforts of the mayor and municipal officials, of the citizens' committee and regular army and the state guards of California have been practically as efficient as though the separate authorities were under one head. Neither friction nor reflections have at any time appeared, and the work of relief has proceeded harmoniously, continuously and efficiently.

Gen. Greely returned from leave, reassumed command Sunday evening and commends in the highest terms the efficient and tireless efforts of Gen. Funston, whose orders and action utilized and inspired the army to most efficient action in staying the progress of the flames and saving the remnant of the city.

The health of the city is remarkably good, everything considered. Stories regarding pestilence and epidemics are destitute of foundation.

The people are confident and hopeful for the future and have not in any sense lost their courage. They feel under deep obligations to you and the national government for the prompt and efficient assistance rendered them.

SALINAS CONSTANTLY SHAKEN

Frequent Shocks Add Nothing to Original Damage—Riverbed Sinks 10 or 12 Feet.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., April 27.—A long-distance telephone message to this city from Salinas, 120 miles south of San Francisco, states that three more very heavy earthquake shocks were felt there last night, one at 8 o'clock, another at 9:50 and the last at 2 o'clock this morning. The shocks lasted about four seconds each, but so far as known did no damage.

Earthquake shocks have been felt daily there since April 18, but have done no further damage. The original shock caused over $100,000 damage. The Salinas river is reported to have been sunk 10 or 12 feet along its course for miles. Nearly all of the bridges across the river have been condemned and will have to be rebuilt.

Phelan Reports Cash at $4,931,030.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—Chairman Phelan, of the finance committee, gave out today a complete statement of money contributions received for the relief of San Francisco up to and including April 26. The list shows the grand total of $4,931,030, of which $213,950 was contributed locally.

ARMY EXPERT WILL GET MOORE'S PLACE

Capt. J. F. Edwards, M. D., Said to Be Picked for Superintendent of Health Bureau.

An army hygienic expert is expected to be appointed superintendent of the bureau of health to succeed G. Washington Moore, who resigned yesterday. Dr. J. F. Edwards, until recently holding the rank of captain in the United States army, is reported to be picked for the place. He will arrive in the city today to confer with Mayor Guthrie and Director Ridgway. He was formerly attached to the medical staff of the Mercy hospital, entered the medical service of the army and rose to captain. For three years he was a hygienic expert in Manila during the pestilence there, and is said to be highly efficient in all matters relating to sanitation, which has become an important problem in Pittsburgh.

Supt. Moore, whose resignation takes effect on Monday, has been in the service of the city, with slight intermissions, for over 35 years. John F. O'Toole, saloonkeeper of the Thirty-fourth ward, and secretary of the Democratic city committee, is a candidate for the superintendency of the bureau of highways and sewers at $4,000 a year. Director Clark's candidate for the place is W. R. Williams, superintendent of the city poor farm at Marshalsea.

Attorney Samuel J. Graham, who was mentioned for chief assessor, said yesterday he would not accept any city position. Charles A. Finley stands a chance of being retained as superintendent of the bureau of surveys, but A. W. Burk, superintendent of the construction bureau, is scheduled for removal. George A. Barclay's removal from the superintendency of the light bureau is certain. John E. Gable, former assistant city clerk, is a candidate for the place, and George Welsh, clerk in the controller's office, is candidate for the superintendency of city property, formerly held by John A. Long. Welsh is a Democrat.

GAMES TODAY.

St. Louis at Exposition park, Cincinnati at Chicago, Philadelphia at New York, Brooklyn at Boston.

The Pirates played a ragged game all around, and fell easy victims to Jack Taylor's pitching and his errorless support. The five errors of the Pittsburghs cut a big figure in the score, but at this had they done a little more batting they would have stood a chance of winning out. Taylor's pitching was so effective and the fielding of the Cardinals so sharp and clean, that only four Pirates succeeded in reaching third base, three of them in one inning. The Pittsburghs scored in only one inning. This was the fourth, when Wagner started off with a three bagger into left field. Nealon looked two strikes by Jack Taylor and was given his base on balls. Leach then dropped the ball into right field for a single, scoring Wagner and putting Nealon on third. Ritchey hit to the infield and was out, but Nealon scored. Pietz and Karger went out without doing any good. Leach getting to third. Five Pirates reached first base after the fourth inning, but only one succeeded in reaching third and not one crossed the plate.

The loss of the game was not the only misfortune to the Pirates. Before the ball rang Catcher Gibson received a telegram from London, Ont., informing him that his brother was dying. He left immediately for the Dominion and will not return for at least two weeks. In the third inning yesterday Otis Clymer broke his leg above the ankle and will be out of the game for at least one month. Two months would be a better guess.

The Cardinals were a frisky lot, and old Jake Beckley was as frisky as them all. In the third inning the Cardinals went to the front by a base on balls to Grady. Taylor also went to base on balls, Bennett went out to Nealon, Shannon hit to left for a single, sending Grady to third. Clarke fumbled the ball and Grady scored.

In the fifth inning the Cardinals went to the front and never lost the lead. After McBride was retired, Grady hit through Leach for a single. Taylor got his base on balls and both scored on a single by Spike Shannon.

In the sixth inning Beckley hit for three bases and scored because Ganley dropped Hines' fly. In the seventh inning the Cardinals cinched the game by scoring four runs. Grady and Taylor were out and Bennett and Shannon were on third and second. Both scored on a hit by Arndt. Smoot hit for three bases, scoring Arndt.

Karger was taken off the rubber after the fifth inning, and Lynch was substituted. There was reason to remove the left hander, but the spectators yelled murder. Mike did all right except in the seventh inning. Attendance 4,200. Score:

AMERICANS WIN AGAIN IN THE OLYMPIC GAMES

ATHENS, April 27.—The continued success of the American athletes in the Olympic games is causing some ill-feeling among the Greeks, although on the whole an excellent temper has been displayed by the competitors and spectators. A few of the latter, however, have not been able to conceal their feelings and some hisses were heard today.

This was a busy day. The expectation that the aquatic events would be concluded was not realized on account of wind springing up at noon which made the sea choppy and many of the events had to be postponed. At the stadium the interest was well maintained, but the attendance, though large, was less than on previous days. The Americans again figured prominently in the day's results.

The preliminary heats for the 400 metres race resulted as follows: First heat—Harry Livingston Hillman, Jr., N. Y. A. C., first; W. D. Anderson, England, second. Second heat—P. H. Pilgrim, N. Y. A. C., first; Duncker, Germany, second. Third heat—Migel Barker, Australia, first; J. D. Lightbody, Chicago university, second. Fourth heat—Lt. W. Halswelle, England, first; Lawson Robertson, Irish-American A. C., New York, second. Fifth heat—Charles J. Bacon, Irish-American A. C., New York, first; G. A. Queyvouze, New Orleans Y. A. C. A., second. Sixth heat—Fay R. Moulton, Kansas City A. A., first; John Runge, Germany, second.

In the running long jump Meyer Prinstein, Irish-American A. C., New York, was first. Distance, 7 metres 20 centimetres. O. O'Connor, England, was second with 7 metres 2½ centimetres.

In the 400 metres swimming race Scheff, Austria, was first; H. Taylor, England, was second, and J. A. Jarvis, England, was third.

The victory of the young Austrian, who is only 16 years old, was most enthusiastically received by the spectators. He swam in fine style and passed the winning post a yard ahead of Taylor. Time, 6 minutes 23 4-5 seconds.

Italian crews won both the 1,000 metres and the 1,650 metres pair oar gig races. A Frenchman won the single sculls.

In throwing the stone Giorgantas, Greece, was first. Distance, 19 meters 82½ centimeters. Martin J. Sheridan, Irish-American A. C., New York, was second with 19 metres 3½ centimetres. Dorizn, Greece, was third, with 18 metres 58 centimetres.

The 1,500 metres race was won by James D. Lightbody of Chicago university. Time, 4 minutes, 19 2-5 seconds. Hillstrom, Sweden, was second. James D. Sullivan, Irish-American A. C., New York, was third, and Wheatley, Australia, was fourth. Nine men started.

In the second heat of the 1,500 metres race, J. C. Gough, England, was first. Time, 4 minutes 18 4-5 seconds. R. P. Crabbe, England, was second; George N. Bonhag, Irish-American A. C., New York, was third, and Harvey W. Cohn, Irish-American A. C., New York, was fourth. Eleven men ran.

In the final heat for the 100 metres race Archie Hahn, Milwaukee (Wis.) A. C., was first; Moneton, Australia, was second, and Barker, Australia, was third. Time, 11 1-5 seconds.

In the single-handed weight lifting, Steinbach, Austria, won, with 76.55 kilograms.

M. J. Sheridan, Irish-American A. C., won in throwing the weight 13 meters 32½ centimetres. David, Hungary, was second with 11 meters 32 centimeters. Lemming, Sweden, was third, 11 meters 25 centimetres.

The following qualified in the semi-finals of the 400-meter race for the finals tomorrow: M. L. Hillman, Jr., New York A. C., 54 4-5 seconds; P. H. Pilgrim, New York A. C., 55 1-5 seconds; Barker, Australia, 53 seconds; Lieut. W. Halswelle, England, 54 seconds; C. J. Bacon, Irish-American A. C., 56 1-5 seconds; F. R. Moulton, K. C. A. A., 54 4-5 seconds. Barker is the favorite.

While practicing jumping today Martin J. Sheridan of the Irish-American Athletic club, tore his right leg with his spikes. The injury is not serious, but he is being given every attention. He is scheduled to compete in the hop-skip-and-jump.

The forty-second round of the Allegheny County Pool league was played last night. One of the most important games of the evening was the Federal and Glenwood game, as the Federals are fighting it out with Olympia for first place. The crack Federals had no trouble in defeating Glenwood by the score of 100 to 44, and by winning are now in first place. The star playing of the Federals as a whole was the feature of the game.

Primrose forfeited to Friendship and Crescent and Vorwerck postponed their game until next Thursday. Scores:

GOOD GAME ON BOWLING ALLEYS

Eight teams of the Twin City league participated in their regular scheduled meet on the Federal alleys last night. The Bulls and Bears, the leaders in the race, were successful in corralling all three games from the Prudentials, and the Fosters accomplished the same feat against the Maccabees. The Premiers won two out of three games from the Black Diamonds and the Mimosas won all three games from their opponents. Some excellent individual scores were the result of several members of the different teams. The high rollers were Yingling (with two double centuries), Earl, Bruce, McMunn, McPherson, Meisner, Gillespie, Fosnight, Kummer, Richards and Scrandel. McPherson was the high roller with the fine score of 236. Scores:

SCHENLEY MATINEE CLUB.

Holds Annual Meeting and Plans Great Racing Season at Schenley Oval.

The Schenley Matinee club held its annual meeting last night at the East End board of trade rooms. A big gathering was on hand, something like 500 being present. The meeting was most enthusiastic and harmonious. The bright spring days have made the horsemen anxious to get things in shape at the Schenley oval for the club's matinee racing.

A big force of men will be set at work on Monday at the track. The turns are thrown up and the track is ready for the top dressing. This can be done in about three weeks. The sheds and grand stand will take about six weeks. It is expected that by the middle of June everything will be in shape to begin the matinee racing.

The matinees will be held on Wednesdays. It was decided to race to carts. The members are getting new horses and a number more are in the market. The outlook now is for a grand year of sport on the Schenley half-mile oval.

Dave G. McDonald brought to the meeting the handsome cup he has offered for the fastest heat trotted and also had with him the one offered by Charles O'Brien & Co. for the fastest heat paced. It was decided that these heats must occur in a race and the horse to be eligible must have participated in three previous matinees at least. Altogether 12 cups have been offered and all will be out for the honors.

The officers of last year were re-elected and are: President, O. H. Allerton; secretary and treasurer, W. H. Baddeley.

The same firm reports having placed mortgages as follows: Two loans on residences in Shady avenue, and one in Forbes street of $13,000, two loans of $4,000 on Mt. Washington houses, $3,000 on a Ridge avenue house, $4,500 on a house in St. Clair street, all at 6 per cent.

LIVELY SELLING IN SECOND WARD

Four Properties in Second and Third Avenues Change Their Owners.

FORBES STREET TRANSACTIONS

A lively selling movement has started in Second ward real estate, as is shown by the transfers of four properties in Second and Third avenues, above Smithfield street, within the last three days. The property of L. W. Terburg at the northeast corner of Second avenue and Cherry alley, diagonally opposite the Homeopathic hospital holdings, has been sold to L. A. Patton for $30,000, or $2,000 a front foot for a lot 40x80 feet. It is known as Nos. 425 and 427 and the sale is at the rate of $25 a square foot.

Just above this property on the north side of Second avenue, is the property of L. L. Kaufman, 23x80 feet, which is reported sold for $30,000, or $1,500 a front foot. The lot is improved with an ordinary brick house.

Alderman J. V. McMasters has also disposed of two properties in the Second ward, the buyer being M. J. Gay. For a two-story brick house on 18x85 feet at 443 Second avenue, he received $15,000. His other property sold is at 424 Third avenue, between Grant and Ross streets. It is of the same size and like the Second avenue lot, is improved with a two-story brick house. The price paid was $15,000, according to the deed recorded.

More Forbes Street Deals.

Two more sales in outer Forbes street evidence the steady interest in realty in that locality. The Siebert holdings, 40x120 feet, at 2175-2177 Forbes street, have been sold to a prominent gents' furnishing wholesaler in outer Fifth avenue for $15,000. The property is on the north side of the street, near Moultrie street, and is improved with a large brick house in front and a frame dwelling in the rear.

The other sale reported is that of the E. Hall lot at 709 Forbes street, near Boyd street. It has a frontage of 22 feet and is somewhat irregular in form. An ordinary brick house stands on the front of the lot, which was sold for $15,000. The buyer is said to be C. G. Fisher, president of the Scientific Materials Company.

The interesting thing about the Forbes street dealing is that several of the purchases are being made by persons who are buying for their own use. This is true of at least one of the deals announced yesterday. Another Forbes street purchase reported this week was also made for the buyer's own use. This fact, taken with the disposition manifested by substantial business men to go into the Forbes street section with their money, seems to give pretty good foundation for the belief that the present prices are not inflated, but will be increased before fall.

Irene Flats Bring $27,500.

Through the Aronson Realty Company the Irene apartment building at Crawford, Reed and Colwell streets, Eighth ward, has been sold for F. Alt for $27,500. It faces 48 feet in Colwell street and 120 feet in Crawford street. The building is a substantial three-story vitrified brick structure divided into apartments of five rooms each. The rear end of the lot is now vacant and will be improved with another flat building, for which plans are now being drawn.

The property of Dr. A. Rabinowitz at 1468-1470 Franklin street, between Townsend and Fulton streets, has been sold to Samuel Smith for $2,600. It measures 18x126 feet, running through to Hazel street. Two three-story brick houses stand on the front, and two frame dwellings on the rear of the lot. These are rented for $180 a month.

J. and E. McLaughlin are the buyers of the A. H. Perlman property at 1722-1724 Fifth avenue, which was sold recently through the Aronson-Friedman Company for $25,000. The lot is 24x120 feet and is improved with two brick business buildings.

$80,000 Apartment Announced.

Dr. J. B. Morrow, president of the Continental Trust Company, is going to improve the Dorchester Arms, end of the John P. Ober lot on Squirrel Hill with an $80,000 apartment house. Dr. Morrow secured the site a few months ago in exchange for one of the Shadyside courts in Center avenue, just east of the Pennsylvania railroad. It has a frontage of 132 feet in Shady avenue and 154 feet in Denniston avenue, near Hastings street, with a depth of 330 feet. The proposed building will extend back from Denniston avenue about half the depth of the lot. It will contain 24 apartments of seven rooms and bath each. Such suites in this locality will rent easily for $50 a month each.

Architect W. J. Shaw has let the contract to John A. O'Hara for building two four-story brick warehouses on the south side of Fifth avenue near Magee street for C. Magee. The buildings will have the Henry slow burning construction and will cost together $50,000.

H. L. BORLAND.

Mr. Borland is a member of Borland & Waddell, which has offices in the Keystone building. One More Regal Difference

We never offer you "something just as good" in a Regal Store,—and we believe that can't be said of any other shoe-stores anywhere.

Two good reasons why we don't: First, it's bad business; second, there isn't any other shoe as good as the Regal except those made to order at more than double the Regal price.

—In style most especially. There simply isn't any other ready-to-try-on shoe that has one-half the style-value that's built into every Regal.

The others can't possibly have the same timeliness of style, for by the ordinary shoe-selling system the "Spring" shoes were built last Fall. The new-season Regals are never produced until the first of the fashionable new made-to-order designs are finished—and then we get perfect reproductions of these unquestionably correct new styles into all the Regal stores as fast as the great Regal factories can accomplish it.

THE GAZETTE FASHION.

A New Feather Arrangement.

This is the latest idea from Paris for building up the smart little sailors now so largely demanded by women of fashion. The model illustrated is a Leghorn straw of Nattier blue, trimmed with rosettes of pale yellow lace and blue satin ribbon. The full, black ostrich plume rises in beauty from the bow and waves backward.

Flowers formed of chiffon, tulle and maline are very soft and effective. Many milliners use them in preference to artificial flowers in trimming heavy straws and braids that have heavy effects when used to cover hat frames. As it requires a great deal of material to make these chiffon flowers, it will be found economical to form them of taffeta first, then drape the silk with chiffon. Experience has proven that low coiffeurs are not intended for the small sailor, because it interferes with the back trimming, therefore high chignon is returning to favor.

The blouse worn with this hat is a simple affair in black washable net, having a square yoke outlined with hand-embroidery. It is built over cream white China silk.

SHOWER PRAYER BOOKS ARE NOW BEING WORN

Wear a "shower prayer book" during the wedding ceremony. Not only is this fashionable, but it is said to be a token of good fortune.

This was demonstrated yesterday afternoon during the dressmakers' fashion bee in Hotel Annex. Miss Mildred Barry, who has been "married" 20 times in the past 10 weeks, went through the ceremony unblushingly, carrying the "shower prayer book."

The "shower prayer book" is nothing but an ordinary prayer book trimmed fashionably. The one the much-wedded bride carried yesterday had a maze of white silk streamers bursting out from its pages, and from each streamer hung a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Barry stated that it is correct to permit any sort of flower in the prayer book shower, and declared the "shower" had nothing to do with the deluge.

Yesterday morning Miss White, the president of the organization and "instructor extraordinary," lectured on the value of trimming, especially on a bathing suit. Yesterday afternoon the manless wedding took place, as well as a demonstration of a preparation to free gowns from spots, which Miss Kane admitted would remove a spot from silk, cotton or a reputation with equal ease.

Last night a demonstration of Pres de Soie was given, as well as a repetition of Miss White's talk on corset wear, illustrated by living models. The models, which were of many widths, were skillfully thrown into shape under the magic hand of Miss White, aided by several daintily-tinted straight-jackets. The living models stood the performance with fortitude, and seemed to regard it merely as a matter of form.

Planning for Hospital Opening.

It has been decided to issue 2,000 invitations to the opening of the new Columbia hospital in Wilkinsburg. Invitations will be sent to the officers of the hospital boards throughout the two cities, to the members of the Allegheny County Medical association, to the donors of memorials to the hospital, to representative members of the United Presbyterian denomination and to the friends of the members of the United Presbyterian Women's association. Members of the association who wish invitations sent to their friends have been asked to send their names in to the invitation committee to be appointed by the hospital board. The opening of the hospital has been postponed from the early spring, but it is now hoped all work will be finished to formally open the institution the latter part of May.

THE CLUBS

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

Sisterhood of Rodeph Shalom.

A preliminary meeting to organize the Sisterhood of Congregation Rodeph Shalom was held Wednesday afternoon in the assembly room of the temple. One hundred and thirty-one women of the congregation were present. Rabbi J. Leonard Levy showed the necessity for such work as could be done under the direction of committees on sewing guild, bazar association, dramatic and choral clubs, mothers' meetings, social entertainments, civic service, library association and pulpit aid societies. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Josiah Cohen; vice president, Mrs. Jacob Kaufmann; secretary, Mrs. M. Mona Lesser; treasurer, Mrs. Isaac Guckenheimer; board of directors, Mrs. S. L. Fleishman, Mrs. I. Wildberg, Mrs. G. E. Crone, Mrs. A. M. Hanauer, Mrs. M. Bonn, Mrs. I. W. Frank, Mrs. M. Arnfeld, Mrs. B. Trauerman, Mrs. J. Siesel, Mrs. M. Rauh, Mrs. H. Jackson, Mrs. L. Newman of Braddock. Mrs. J. Leonard Levy was elected honorary president. Mrs. Cohen suggested that the first act of the Sisterhood might be the raising of a contribution of those present toward the fund for the sufferers in the San Francisco disaster, and $230 was raised. The treasurer, Mrs. Isaac Guckenheimer, will forward this amount to Mayor Guthrie. During the outlining of the work attention was called to the proposed introduction of "boys' gardens," the growing of flowers and vegetables and the furnishing of a playground. Mrs. Jacob Kaufmann contributed $100 to be used in connection with the work of the sisterhood, and offered $1,000 as a nucleus of a sum wherewith to furnish such a playground. Mrs. Morris Falk placed her new residence at the disposal of the Sisterhood at any time it is desired to hold an entertainment.

Appreciation of Miss Allison.

A beautiful little volume has been published for a limited circulation in memory of Miss Georgia Allison, the only supervisor the Pittsburgh and Allegheny kindergartens ever had, who died last fall. The volume is bound in deep violet and tied with a knot of white ribbon. It contains an obituary of Miss Allison, contributed by W. H. Allen and a full account of the commemorative services conducted on November 6, 1905, the evening of the day Miss Allison died, in the Kindergarten college, and attended by the officers and members of the board of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association, the faculty and students of the college, members of the boards of education of Pittsburgh and Allegheny and superintendents and teachers in the public schools and others, numbering in all 300. Also within the covers of the memorial book are the series of resolutions adopted by the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association, the alumnae of the Kindergarten college, the Pittsburgh central board of education, the Allegheny board of controllers and expressions of appreciation from Mrs. James I. Buchanan, president of the Kindergarten association; Miss Elizabeth Culp, principal of the college; Miss Susan Blow, Miss Ruth Tappan and kindergarten associations and kindergartners in various sections of the country. The memorial volume was distributed yesterday at the meeting of the Kindergarten association.

Shadow Vaudeville at Church Home.

A unique feature of the annual festival at the Episcopal Church Home next Thursday will be the shadow vaudeville. This will be in the care of Mrs. William R. Varker and the entertainment will be conducted in the school room, two performances being given in the evening. There will be no announcement of the names of the performers, who will include well-known young people in society, but each act of the program will be presented behind a large curtain, the voices of the singers and players and their profile being the only clues to their identity. There will be both singers and musicians, music forming a large part of the program, as is usually the case in vaudeville entertainments.

A meeting of the board of managers of the church home was held yesterday, when arrangements were almost concluded for the festival which will be given at the home in Penn avenue and Fortieth street next Thursday. Mrs. A. E. W. Painter and members of the Altar society of Trinity Episcopal church will have charge of the tea-room as usual.

Supper will be served in the dining room, some tables being placed in other rooms, as almost every church in the diocese will be in charge of a table. Other features will be arranged in other apartments on the first and second floors, and during the afternoon a special effort will be made for the entertainment of the children, the shadow vaudeville being given only in the evening, the two performances commencing at 7 o'clock and at 8:30.

Lecture on Pittsburgh Beautiful.

The architects are bringing Mr. Kelsey of Philadelphia to Pittsburgh to lecture on Tuesday evening, May 1. He will speak on the "Pittsburgh Possible" and the co-operation of the members of the Civic club of Allegheny county has been asked. The directors of the Civic club met yesterday in the new quarters, 238 Fourth avenue. The educational committee reported $25 from the John Hart chapter of the American Revolution and assured the board that the work of medical inspection of schools is making rapid progress. The legal aid committee is now organized and ready for business. Arrangements have been made that any cases reported to the Civic club office will be taken care of by the attorneys of the committee. A resolution was passed urging the congressmen to use their influence for a national forest reservation in the southern Appalachian mountains and in the White mountains, New Hampshire. A resolution was also passed requesting officials having charge of the parks in Allegheny and Pittsburgh to extend their care to trees in the streets.

Several materials are suitable to the mode, such as French flannel, cashmere, albatross, taffeta, linen and madras. The medium size requires 2¼ yards of 36-inch material.

Ladies' Shirtwaist, No. 5547: Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inches bust measure.

A New Baby.

A New Baby! What magic, what mystery, what charm these words have for us. Yet, how infinitely more they mean to the mother. A new life; short, to be sure, but full of possibilities. Some one must be patient, hopeful, watchful, proud and never discouraged. That "some one" is the mother. She has heard her baby's first cry, and whether it be her first or tenth, the feeling is the same. Her feeble arms are out-stretched; those arms that will never desert it as long as the mother shall live. And that hand which supports the head of the new-born babe, the mother's hand, supports the civilization of the world.

Is it any wonder, we ask you, mothers, that with all these responsibilities resting upon your all too weak shoulders, we urge upon you the necessity of selecting the babe's medicine with utmost care; the necessity of protecting your babe from worthless, unknown and narcotic drugs as you would protect it from the fire?

BAD BREAK IN STOCKS ON HEAVY LIQUIDATION

Prices Declined to the Lowest of the Year and Displayed Very Little Rallying Power. Local Stocks AlsoClosed Lower.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Semi-panicky conditions prevailed in the New York stock market yesterday and prices declined to the lowest average of the year. Some of the losses in the high-grade investment stocks were especially severe and were responsible for the theory that urgent liquidation was in progress for investment interests, supposedly the fire insurance companies involved in the San Francisco losses. As usual on such occasions, there were vague rumors of financial trouble; among others that a large fire insurance company had failed, but there was no confirmation of any of the reports during market hours.

The liquidation yesterday was heavier than on any previous day since the Pacific coast calamity, and while the weakness was aggravated by bearish tactics, the fact that there was little rallying power was discouraging. The following table will show at a glance the extent of the depreciation in the market value of 15 leading stocks since the earthquake and the decline from the high prices of the year, which as a rule were recorded during the latter part of January or the first week in February:

	1906. High.	Apr. 27. High.	Apr. 27. Low.	10-day Loss.
Great Northern pfd.	348	325½	281	44¼

U. S. Steel	46¾	43⅞	39¾	4¼
Do preferred	113¾	109½	105	4½

The foregoing list embraces some of the highest grade railroad stock investments in the country, such as are found among the reserve holdings of financial institutions, and the inference is that they have suffered largely from forced liquidation. Some of the greatest losses occurred yesterday, notably in Great Northern preferred, which broke in a few minutes from 308 to 281, and in Northern Pacific, which broke from 210 to 195. Northwestern broke from 209½ to 192.

The market had opened firm and higher under the influence of the improvement reported in the foreign financial situation and London was credited with large purchases. During the first two hours the sales footed up only 481,000 shares. Shortly after the noon hour rather heavy selling appeared in Reading, which caused a 4-point break. Then liquidation suddenly appeared in Great Northern preferred, and from that stock extended to the entire list. Between noon and 1 o'clock the sales reached about half a million shares. Between 1 and 2 o'clock trading continued very active, shorts covering freely and causing a sharp rally in those stocks which had suffered the greatest decline. In the final hour, however, liquidation again took place, and it was at this time that the lowest average prices of the day were recorded. While the railroad list did not close at the lowest, practically every stock closed at net losses ranging from 1 to 14¼ per cent, the latter for Great Northern preferred.

In the industrial list Amalgamated Copper was a weak feature, breaking from 196⅜ to 192¼ and closing at 192¾. United States Steel issues, which have held remarkably well for two weeks past, finally gave way, the common declining to 39¾ and the preferred to 105, and closed with net losses of 1⅜ per cent each. The largest decline in this department was in Colorado Fuel and Iron, which broke from 54⅜ to 45¼, closing at 46½. The most active stocks were Reading, Union Pacific, Copper and United States Steel.

Call loan rates ranged between 5½ and 5 per cent, closing at 4 per cent. The banks continued to make heavy shipments of currency to the west, but these were offset by the engagement of $3,000,000 foreign gold for import. The forecast is for a rather unfavorable bank statement today.

Considering the demoralization which prevailed in Wall street, the decline in the local stock market was insignificant. Crucible Steel preferred was the only stock in which there appeared to be liquidation, and its net loss was only ½ per cent, the stock closing at 79. The common declined to 13⅜. United States Steel was almost neglected on the local board and closed 1⅞ per cent lower for the common. National Fire Proofing common declined to 7⅞ and the preferred was unchanged at 25½. The natural gas stocks were extremely dull and unchanged in price. Pittsburgh Brewing preferred was firmer, selling at 50, while the common lost only ¼, closing at 29½. Westinghouse Electric declined to 78¾. The coal stocks were dull and unchanged. United Copper sold at 61¼ and closed offered at 60⅞. Cable Consolidated declined to 65c and closed at 66c. There were no transactions in Ohio Tonopah, but the stock closed offered at 32c. Tonopah Extension was unchanged at 11½ to 11⅝. The only transaction in bonds was $5,000 United States Steel sinking fund 5s at 99⅞, which is the record price on the local board.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

An analysis of the dealings on the New York stock exchange yesterday suggests that it was a case of liquidation by speculative pools, rather than forced liquidation by fire insurance or other investment interests. In the first place, more than one-half of the total dealings was contributed by four stocks—Union Pacific, Reading, Amalgamated Copper and United States Steel. These have been the speculative favorites and the leaders of the market for months past. In the second place, the dealings yesterday in Union Pacific, St. Paul, Northwest and Pennsylvania—the four railroad stocks which figure most largely in the assets of the fire insurance companies—were three and one-half times the total holdings of these stocks by the 179 fire insurance companies in the United States which report to the New York authorities. For instance, these 179 fire and marine insurance companies hold 21,565 shares Union Pacific all told, and the sales of Union Pacific recorded on the New York exchange yesterday foot up 324,300 shares. No doubt financial institutions were liquidating some of their stock investments, but there is every reason to believe that liquidation by bull pools and short sales by professional traders were a much more important factor in the semi-demoralized market.

A report of the superintendent of insurance of New York state on the fire and marine insurance companies of the United States, furnishes some interesting data with regard to holdings of stocks by these insurance companies. In the following list, the total amount of four leading stocks held by all the fire and marine companies is set forth in some detail. The number of insurance companies included in this summary is 179. For the sake of making the comparison clear, Pennsylvania is reckoned in $100 shares. The table is as follows:

The boldness with which the bear element operated yesterday was indicated by the violent rebounds between onslaughts when the bears took hasty profits by buying to cover shorts.

It was reported during the day that several of the big eastern insurance companies had secured accommodation in large time loans running in the aggregate to between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 for nine months. The rate of interest payable on these loans was said to be 6 per cent. This indication of the tightness of the money market and the accepted prospect of its continuance was an unfavorable factor in the situation. But the fact that insurance companies were protected by such accommodation it was hoped would avail or defer liquidation of holdings of securities.

Further large engagements of gold for import were secured in Paris, the aggregate for the day reaching $6,000,000. This was contrasted with $1,500,000, the amount of the day's transfers to San Francisco through the New York sub-treasury. This subsidence in the tide of the movement to the Pacific coast arounsed some hope that the principal requirements there incident to the resumption of banking were now satisfied. But this encouraging development availed nothing to check the force of the liquidation which poured into the stock market. The speculative account on the long side of the market proved much heavier than there has been any suspicion of, and the wiping out of margins and the uncovering of stop-loss orders brought a flood of sales orders from all quarters. The western speculative centers figured very largely in this class of selling and the market was free from rumors of threatened casualties in the speculative fields of operations.

The week's currency movement indicates a cash loss for the New York banks of upward of $6,000,000. There was little change, however, in the day's money market.

The actual cash carried by the United States Steel Corporation is larger than it has been in any corresponding period in the history of the company, exceeding $75,000,000. The approximate amount of cash on hand and in bank reported at the close of each year, with the amount on hand at present estimated, follows:

April 25, 1906	$75,000,000
December 31, 1905	68,955,914
December 31, 1904	60,646,436
December 31, 1903	62,022,560
December 31, 1902	50,163,172

The working capital of the United States Steel Corporation is now more than $200,000,000, or about $50,000,000 in excess of what it was at the close of 1904.

The Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock and 1 per cent on the common.

American Radiator directors declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the common and 1¾ per cent on the preferred.

The statement of the United Gas Improvement Company for the quarter ended March 31 shows sales of gas in cubic feet of 1,928,542,320, compared with 1,827,304,000 for the corresponding period last year. The amount realized for this and for unrecorded sales in the last quarter of 1905 was $1,984,831, for which the city of Philadelphia received $188,493. The amount received by the city for the first quarter of 1906 was $186,729.

The general balance sheet of Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal Company as of February 28, 1906, compares as follows:

STRAWBERRIES LOWER; NEW POTATOES WEAK

Vegetables of All Kinds Are Also Succumbing to the Good Supply.

As the season advances strawberries are daily coming in from the south in big shipments. The quality is good. Berries took a further drop yesterday and now are quoted at $5 and $5.50 for 24-quart crates, and $3.50 and $4 for 24-quart crates, a falling off in price of from 25 cents to $1 a crate.

New potatoes of all varieties show some weakness. Florida Rose potatoes took a fall yesterday of 25 cents a bushel, and the prospects are that they will go still lower. The arrivals of all kinds of new potatoes are good, and cheap new potatoes will be in the market very shortly.

Notwithstanding the large number of eggs that are being shipped into the city, they still remain firm at 17 and 18 cents a dozen. The boats on the Ohio yesterday brought in large shipments from West Virginia and Ohio.

Butter remains firm and cheese is weak. The local market on butter is controlled by the Elgin output, and Elgin maintains a stiff market. Early pastures will, however, have some effect upon local supply, and butter may go some lower, but prints are liable to stay around the 24-cent mark during the entire summer.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 45 hay, 18 oats, 3 straw, 2 feed, 1 corn; Baltimore & Ohio, 1 hay, 1 oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 4 hay, 2 oats.

Demand continues good for all kinds of mill feed. Receipts have been larger in hay, but the price still remains firm. Bran took a small advance yesterday and receipts are light. A further advance may be looked for.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

M. G. Norton of Los Angeles, who is registered at the Hotel Henry, said yesterday that the San Francisco disaster will not have any unfavorable effect upon legitimate mining operations in California or Nevada. On the contrary, the rebuilding of San Francisco will attract new capital and additional labor to the coast, and will have the ultimate effect of bringing the east and west much closer together than they have ever been in the past. Mr. Norton is a lawyer by profession and did considerable work in the Bullfrog district in Nevada in the way of examining titles to claims and filing papers preliminary to the organization of some of the mining companies in that camp. During the past six or eight months he has been devoting his spare time and capital to the development of a mining property consisting of seven claims, of which he is the sole owner. He speaks highly of the Montgomery-Shoshone, the Schwab property, in which a large number of Pittsburghers are interested.

A letter has been received in Pittsburgh telling of a strike at about the 550-foot level of the Black Hills mines at Jerome, Ariz. Samples are said to run 25 per cent or better in copper. The former strike showed 27 to 33 per cent copper. It is not known yet whether the United Verde vein has been struck.

Shipments of ore over the Tonopah railroad last week were 2,634 tons, divided as follows: Tonopah Company, 1503 tons; Tonopah Extension, 528 tons; Belmont, 280 tons; Montana Tonopah, 83 tons; Midway, 22 tons; from Manhattan, 39 tons; from Goldfield, 100 tons; sundry shipments, 19 tons.

At a special stockholders' meeting of the United Copper Company it was voted to authorize the directors to accept $3,500,000 cash and accrued interest for the $1,000,000 Montana Ore Purchasing Company bonds and $2,500,000 Nipper Consolidated Copper Company bonds.

The company's by-laws were amended to allow the directors to meet in another state than New Jersey. The number of directors necessary for a quorum was prescribed; the bond was also given the power to fix the amount of working capital and to direct the disposition of any surplus or net profit over and above the capital stock paid in, such surplus to be used in purchasing or acquiring its bonds, other obligations or shares.

It was also provided that the directors shall decide when and how accounts and books shall be open to stockholders, no stockholders having any right to examine any account or book except as conferred by statute or authorized by the board, or by resolution of the stockholders.

Approval was voted, the resolution authorizing the company's directors to vote by proxy, or otherwise, all or any stock now or hereafter to be held by the United Copper Company in the Butte Coalition Mining Company.

Henry Heinze said that with the settlement of all litigation against the company 150 actions aggregating $100,000,000 were disposed of.

For the past eight years he said the cost of litigation had been in excess of $1,000,000 annually.

The company owns today securities with a market value in excess of $20,000,000 and has cash and receivables amounting to $3,200,000. The securities owned cover nearly every company in the Butte copper district, Utah and California. It owns the majority of La France Company operating mines in Butte, from which over 300 tons of exceptionally rich gold, silver and copper are taken daily from above the 5000-foot level.

The machinery is on the ground to unwater the mine to the 1,450-foot level, and the output will then be doubled.

The United has the contract for concentrating the Butte Coalition Company ores at its Basin plant, which can handle 1,500 tons daily.

The company also has copper and gold deposits in Montana, Utah and Alaska. Mr. Heinze concluded with the statement that the copper market is in such a position that the company can maintain its present dividend rates.

BOSTON, April 27.—The market today followed the predictions of the past week that stocks would surely sell lower. Money is high and prices are high and with such conditions we cannot have a bull market at present. Either money must get considerably cheaper or stocks are still a sale. The break today was very sharp and in some cases there was practically no bid for copper stocks. There were no sales of Isle Royale between 18 and 17, or Atlantic between 18 and 16¾, or Parrot between 34¼ and 33¼. After the sharp decline today we ought to have a rally tomorrow, at which time we advise the sale of all stocks in general.

TRADE REPORTS SHOW THE RESULT OF GOOD WEATHER

Farmers Have Been Enabled to Catch Up With a Rather Late Planting. Building Industry Active.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 27.—Bradstreet's summary of the state of trade will say tomorrow:

Trade brightens in consonance with continued good weather. Trade, crop and industrial reports alike are favorable and the spring season which started a little late is making up well for lost time. Good weather has helped the farmers to catch up with a rather late planting season and regain lost ground, retail trade has been helped, jobbers report continued liberal re-orders to fill depleted stocks. Building is certainly active, beyond precedent for this season. There is some improvement noted in collections, bank clearings are larger, money is easier, large gold imports partly balancing heavy remittances to the Pacific coast and railroad earning reflect expansion over the best returns of preceding years at this time.

Business failures for the week ending April 25 number 177 against 167 last week.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada, for the week ending April 26 are 2,149,684 bushels, against 1,844,798 last week. From July 1 to date the exports are 111,501,301 bushels against 82,213,297 last year.

Corn exports for the week are 1,428,921 bushels against 1,673,972 last week. From July 1 to date the exports of corn are 102,993,632 bushels against 67,263,439 in 1905.

Canadian trade and crop reports are of the best. Winter sown crops are in good condition and there undoubtedly will be an increase in spring wheat in the northwest. Montreal reports wholesale and retail trade improved; country collections are coming in well and money is active. At Toronto present and prospective conditions are favorable and orders for cotton goods for 1907 are very good. In the northwest a substantial increase in wheat acreage is certain. Marketing of grain is active and collections are expected to be better. In British Columbia the lumber industry is very active. A direct steamship line from Vancouver to Australia is likely. Failures for the week number 22 as against 17 in this week a year ago.

R. G. Dun & Company's Weekly Review of Trade will say:

Weather conditions are favorable for retail trade and building operations. While the crop outlook is bright on the whole, although some sections report delay to planting on account of excessive moisture, and there is much complaint regarding the scarcity of labor. A large demand and satisfactory results are anticipated at the sale of wash fabrics next week. Manufacturing plants are working to their full capacity in the leading industries, especially iron furnaces and steel mills, and there is little idle machinery at footwear factories or textile mills.

Clearings this week thus far reported for April surpass last year's by 8.2 per cent, and foreign commerce at this port shows a gain of $928,619 in imports and a small loss of $283,619 in exports as compared with the same week of 1905.

Prices of the 60 most active railway securities declined to the lowest average since last August, and money rules firm, heavy withdrawals by the west offsetting receipts of gold from abroad. Mercantile collections are somewhat irregular, which may be traced to financial stringency. Bank exchanges at New York show an increase of 10.4 per cent in comparison with last year's figures, while at other leading cities the average gain amounts to 9.1 per cent.

Evaporated Fruits.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The market for evaporated apples is firm, with holders confident. Strictly prime are quoted at 9¾@10c; choice, 10¼@10½c; fancy, 11c. Prunes continue in good demand, with prices very firm. Quotations range from 6 to 8c, according to grade. Apricots are firm, but the high prices and light offerings restrict business. Choice are quoted at 12½c; extra choice, 13c; fancy, 14c. Peaches are quoted firm in sympathy with apricots. Choice are quoted at 10¼c; extra choice, 10¾@11c; fancy, 11¼@11½c; extra fancy, 11¾@12c. Raisins are unchanged, with business very light, although there is some inquiry for seeded varieties. Loose Muscatels are quoted at 6¾c; seeded raisins, 5½@7¾c; London layers, $1 50@1 60.

Guffey & Galey Make Statement as to Leases in Indian Territory

At the offices of Guffey & Galey the following statement was made today, respecting their oil and gas leases in the Creek and Cherokee nations, Indian Territory:

"It is merely a question of whether John Smith or John Jones pay the lessor his royalty. The interior department has a ruling that transfers of all oil and gas leases must be agreed to by the lessors, as well as by the interior department, before they become operative. The lessors refuse to agree to a transfer unless they are paid a bonus, and the department will not act without their consent. Under these conditions and notwithstanding this ruling Guffey & Galey made transfers, solely as a matter of equity. The amount involved is 608 acres in the Creek Nation and 80 acres in the Cherokee Nation, upon which are 19 oil wells.

Light developments are reported from the lower southwest fields. Outside of a single district, all of the wells drilled in or completed are in the pumper class. There is considerable new work, somewhat on the wildcat order, starting, but it will be some time before the result is known. Operators are looking around for territory and will be willing to begin operations in the very near future if it promises to give fair producing wells. The advance in the market has aroused new interest in the eastern fields and the general opinion is that it will be further advanced. In the Middlebourne district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company's test on the J. T. Ferrell farm has increased its oil production, since the salt water has been diminished. It is now producing about 10 barrels a day, but the flow of salt water is still heavy. In the Sand Fork district, Lewis county, the South Penn Oil Company has completed its test on the Marion Odell farm and has a natural producer, good for 20 barrels a day.

The South Penn Oil Company has completed its No. 9 on the J. L. Price farm, near Smithfield, and it is producing 20 barrels a day from the Gordon. In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the S. J. Wolverton farm. The hole has filled up 600 feet with fluid. In this well 32 feet of sand was found, but most of an inferior quality. In the same district the Eastern Oil Company is down 2,600 feet at its test on the Newman-Pell farm. Root & Berry have the rig completed for a test on the C. J. Happ farm. In the same locality Ellsworth, Davis & Co. have the rig completed for a test on the M. Starcher farm. The Carter Oil Company is drilling at 700 feet at a test on the J. A. White farm and has just started to drill at a test on the John Kammer farm. In the Wellsburg district, Brook county, William Beadling's No. 2 on the Charles Green farm, and the Pike Oil Company's No. 2 on the David Waugh farm are holding up at 64 barrels, respectively. The Pike Oil Company is drilling No. 3 on the Waugh farm, and the Panther Run Oil Company has the rig completed for a test on the D. Brady farm. Across the county line, in Hancock county, Charles Foss & Co. are 6us in the sand at a test on the D. Huson farm, and C. F. Hahn & Co. are starting a test on the E. B. Langfitt farm.

On the Ohio side, in the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, Girard & Son have completed a second test on the William Johnson farm and have a show for a 10 or 12-barrel pumper in the shallow sand. In the same district Goddard Brothers have drilled their test on the William Parne farm through the same formation and have a duster. In the Lewisville district, Monroe county, W. G. Decker's No. 1 on the Elisabeth Fisher farm is still holding up at 70 barrels a day and is the only well in the district producing 50 or more barrels a day. In the same district the Freehold Oil and Gas Company has the 8ts completed for a test on the M. Copeland farm. The Emery Oil Company is starting three more wells on the David Stempter farm.

MAY DELIVERY CAUSES WEAKNESS IN WHEAT

Favorable Weather and Condition of the Money Market Important Factors.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, April 27.—Liquidation of the May delivery caused weakness today in the wheat market here. At the close the May option was off ⅞c. July was down ¼@¼c. July corn was up ¼@⅜c. Oats were practically unchanged. Provisions were 5½@7½c lower.

The wheat market was weak all day, the greatest weakness being manifested in the May option, which was offered freely by discouraged holders. The unsettled condition of money market and the likelihood of free deliveries next Tuesday on May contracts, were important factors in the situation. Another influence was favorable weather, both northwest and southwest. In many localities in the winter wheat territory rains had been reported and the weather bureau forecasted additional showers tomorrow throughout Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska.

Several reports were received telling of damage in Kansas. The receipts of these advices tended to strengthen the distant deliveries, which held relatively firmer than the May option all day. Small shipments from Argentina induced some buying early in the session. May opened ¼@½c lower to a shade higher at 79¾@79⅞c, declined to 78½c and sold at 79@79¼c. July opened unchanged at 79¼c, advanced to 79¾@79¾c and then reacted to 78¾c; the close was at 79@79¼c.

Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 153,000 bushels. Exports for the week, as shown by Bradstreets were equal to 2,149,700 bushels. Primary receipts were 356,000 bushels, compared with 318,000 bushels. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 223 cars, against 236 cars last week and 151 cars a year ago.

A firm tone prevailed in the corn market the entire session. Cash interests and pit traders were good buyers, while the selling was scattered. Unsettled weather was one of the bullish factors. Owing to small receipts and large shipments local stocks are decreasing rapidly and this had a strengthening effect on the market. The market closed strong almost at the highest point of the day. July opened unchanged at 46¾c, sold up to 46¾c and closed at 46@46¼c. May closed at 46¾c, a net gain of ⅛@¼c. Local receipts were 219 cars, with 28 of contract grade.

DELANO WALKS OVER NEW LINE

Wabash President Greatly Interested in Steel Link—Club Suggests Rule Changes.

MR. MOODY TALKS RAILROADS

President Delano and other Wabash officers arrived in Pittsburgh about 9 o'clock last evening after a hard day's inspection trip. The last portion of this trip was the most difficult, consisting of a walk of 10 miles over the new line that is being constructed between the West Side Belt line of the Wabash and the Union railroad of the Carnegie steel interests. With President Delano were his assistant, G. G. Yeomans, Vice President Worthington, General Superintendent McMaster, Chief Engineer Douglas, Superintendent C. V. Wood and Mr. Delano's private secretary, C. W. Litsey. Mr. Delano is greatly interested in getting this new connecting link completed so that Wabash traffic will take a bound, and he was pleased with the progress of the work. It is now expected that this line will be ready for operation in about 35 days, or between June 1 and 10.

The official party started from Chicago Wednesday evening, immediately after the spring meeting of the American Railway association, and two days were spent inspecting the lines from Toledo to Pittsburgh. This included a visit to Huron yesterday morning, when the extensive improvements and new work there for facilitating traffic handling were examined. Thence the men came to Pittsburgh and went over the new steel link. Messrs. Delano and Yeomans will spend today here conferring with local officers and will probably make a trip to Clairton to inspect the new connecting line to the steel plant there.

Attorney General Moody on Railroads.

When Attorney General Moody, who was in Pittsburgh yesterday, was asked for his opinion of the railroad investigations, he said: "The investigation of railroads under the Sherman and Elkins laws is a matter that is absorbing a great deal of attention just now and this investigation will be pursued with the greatest intensity until it is completed. I cannot say what will be the outcome, or what will fall to the attorney-general's lot; the subject has not yet come under my jurisdiction. Railroad rate legislation is an absorbing subject in congress just now and I feel certain that an act will be passed on this subject giving provision for a court review."

When Mr. Moody was asked whether a law could be passed by congress making a 2-cent passenger rate imperative on all railroads in the country he said that this could be done with the provision that it apply only where a 2-cent rate would allow a satisfactory and equitable margin of profit for the transportation companies.

Senator Penrose also stated that the railroad rate bill would pass the senate during this session.

Suggest Revisions in M. C. B. Rules.

At the April meeting of the Railway club of Pittsburgh last night at the Monongahela house a large number of railroad officers and shippers met to discuss proposed revisions in the Master Car Builders association's rules of interchange. These suggestions were presented by a standing committee of 11 well-known railroad men identified with local roads. About 25 changes were suggested by this committee for revising the rules to meet conditions brought on by the extensive use of all-steel cars. In the discussion of this committee's report several other suggestions were made, but the report goes to the arbitration committee of the Master Car Builders association practically as it was formulated. The work of this committee last year resulted in 10 out of 30 recommendations being adopted by the association, and as good results are hoped for this year. Twenty railroad men were elected members of the club. The usual luncheon followed the meeting.

Make Inspection of "Pemickey."

Several Pittsburgh & Lake Erie officers, headed by General Manager Yohe, spent yesterday in an inspection of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Youghiogheny railroad, which included the Monongahela and Youghiogheny divisions of the "Little Giant." Accompanying Mr. Yohe were Supt. Riley, Chief Engineer Atwood, Assistant Engineer Boots and Superintendent of Bridges and Buildings Soles. Vice President Schoonmaker and Treasurer Robinson of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie returned yesterday morning from New York, where they had spent a couple of days conferring with New York Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio officers regarding the "Little Kanawha" properties, for which the deal will be completed in a couple of months. Col. Schoonmaker said there is no plan for proceeding with the construction of these lines in West Virginia this summer.

B. & O. Will Hold Narrow Gauge.

It was reported yesterday that the Baltimore & Ohio road might sell the narrow gauge branch of the Pittsburgh division, from Foxburg to Kane, to one of the roads desiring a line towards Pittsburgh from the northern part of Pennsylvania. It is not likely that such a sale will be made, however, as the Baltimore & Ohio realizes what such an entrance into this district would mean. Rather than do this the narrow gauge line will be widened to a standard gauge and made a better part of the Pittsburgh division. While much of the traffic for which this line was built has dwindled, there still remains a good lot of timber, clay beds and stone quarries. Supt. Diuer has recommended that this branch be standardized, and its being so improved will likely result from President Murray's inspection next week.

Appointed Assistant Train Master.

Official announcement of the appointment of K. W. McMaster as assistant trainmaster of the Wabash lines east of Toledo has been made by Supt. Wood. Mr. McMaster has his headquarters at Stringer Pit, near Mingo Junction, and has direct charge of the large number of work trains used on the lines. He is a son of General Superintendent McMaster.

Collecting 'Frisco Relief Cars.

A number of cars loaded with provisions for the relief of sufferers at San Francisco are being collected into Pittsburgh by the Baltimore & Ohio and other roads from various points. These cars and provisions collected from places where a full carload was not collected will be placed into a train and sent west probably tomorrow.

Union Pacific Not Tied Up.

General Agent Herring of the Harriman lines received official word yesterday that the story that the Union Pacific is so tied up with handling supplies for San Francisco that other freight cannot be hauled is erroneous. The Union Pacific has made magnanimous efforts in forwarding food and supplies, but it is able to care for all regular traffic offering.

Railroad Notes.

Cass L. Kenticott of Chicago, whose firm constructed a large number of water-purifying plants on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, is spending a few days examining the plants. He is also inspecting two plants that were erected for the Baltimore & Ohio. His firm will build two more plants on the Baltimore & Ohio soon.

The rate clerks of initial roads continued their spring meeting on the Pittsburgh rate sheet at the Schenley yesterday. They will complete their work by noon today.

Patrick Hanley of McKeesport has been pensioned by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. He was in the service 35 years, and was incapacitated for work by advancing age.

"THE PITTSBURGH POSSIBLE."

Albert Kelsey to Tell How City May Be Beautified.

Albert Kelsey of Philadelphia, will deliver a lecture in the lecture room of the Carnegie Technical schools Tuesday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock, on "The Pittsburgh Possible." The lecture will be delivered under the auspices of the Pittsburgh chapter of the American Institute of Architects and the Pittsburgh Architectural club.

The object of this lecture is to inform the public what has been done in other cities in the line of municipal improvements, specially in regard to new buildings, streets, parks and bridges, and special efforts have been made to get the attendance of the city and county authorities, the chamber of commerce, bar association, Civic club, Art society, board of education, etc.

New Magistrate for Central Station.

Magistrate J. J. Kirby, who has been conducting the hearings at the Central station for the last 10 months, will be removed to the Penn avenue station house. Frank J. Brady, the new appointee at the Central station, will take charge of the hearings there next Tuesday morning.

Ask the man with the dollars how he made his money, and he will tell you that he began to save early in life, and placed the sums thus accumulated at interest. Open a Savings Account with the Commonwealth Trust Company in Penn avenue, where your money will be absolutely safe, and earn 4 per cent compound interest.

It never disappoints. Pilene positively cures Piles. All druggists sell it.

NATURE'S ESSENCE

Extracted from the Roots of Native, Forest Plants. Go Straight Back to Nature for Your Health. There is Your Strength.

Consider your body as an engine which supplies you with all activity of mind and body. Keep the machinery well oiled and it runs smoothly. It does not groan in doing its work. But let the stomach, which is the fire-box to the human engine, get "out of kilter" and we soon meet with disaster. The products of undigested and decomposing food is poison to the system.

We do not live on what we eat but on what we digest, assimilate, and take up in the blood. The blood in turn feeds the nerves, the heart, and the whole system, and all goes well with us if the blood be kept pure and rich. If not, then the liver, which is the human filter within us, gets clogged up and poisons accumulate in the body from over-eating, over-drinking, or hurriedly doing both. The smash-up occurs when the blood is poisoned by the stomach and liver being unable to take care of the over-load! The red flag of danger is thrown out in the shape of eruptions on the skin, or in nervousness and sleeplessness, the sufferer becoming blue, despondent and irritable, because the nerves lack nourishment and are starved.

Nature's laws are perfect if only we obey them, but disease follows disobedience. Go straight to Nature for the cure, to the forest; there are mysteries there, some of which we can fathom for you. Take the bark of the Wild-cherry tree, with Mandrake root, Stone root, Queen's root, Bloodroot and Golden Seal root, make a scientific, Glyceric extract of them, with just the right proportions, and you have Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists and pharmacists, many months of hard work experimenting to perfect this vegetable alterative and tonic extract of the greatest efficiency. To make rich, red blood, to properly nourish the nerves and the whole body, and cure that lassitude and feeling of weakness and nerve exhaustion, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It bears THE BADGE OF HONESTY upon every bottle in the full list of its ingredients, printed in plain English, and it has sold more largely in the past forty years than any other blood purifier and stomach tonic. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the invigorating tonic which gives life to it and the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated in the system.

The "Discovery" cures all skin affections, blotches, pimples, eruptions and boils; heals old sores, or ulcers, "white swellings," scrofulous affections and kindred ailments.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is just the tisue builder and tonic you require when recovering from a hard cold, grip, pneumonia or a long siege of fever or other prostrating disease. No matter how strong the constitution, our stomach and liver are apt to be "out of kilter" occasionally. In consequence our blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood.

It is a trite saying that no man is stronger than his stomach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body and thus cures both liver and kidney troubles. If you take this natural blood purifier and tonic, you will assist your system in manufacturing each day a pint of rich, red blood, that is invigorating to the brain and nerves. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people suffer from, is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin and the feelings "blue." Dr. Pierce's "Discovery" cures all blood humors as well as being a tonic that makes one vigorous, strong and forceful. It is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that contains neither alcohol nor harmful drugs, and the only one, every ingredient of which has the professional endorsement of the leading medical writers of this country. Some of these endorsements are published in a little book of extracts from standard medical works and will be sent to any address free, on receipt of request therefor by letter or postal card, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It tells just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of.

The "Words of Praise" for the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, by leaders in all the several schools of medical practice, and recommending them for the cure of the diseases for which the "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised, should have far more weight with the sick and afflicted than any amount of the so-called "testimonials" so conspicuously flaunted before the public by those who are afraid to let the ingredients of which their medicines are composed be known. Bear in mind that the "Golden Medical Discovery" has THE BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle wrapper, in a full list of its ingredients.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, invigorate the liver and regulate stomach and bowels.

COULD NOT REST NIGHT OR DAY

With Irritating Skin Humor—Whole Body Affected—Scalp Itched All the Time and Hair Began to Fall Out—Wonderful Result From

APPLICATION OF CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am never without Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment since I tried them last summer. About the latter part of July my whole body began to itch. I did not take much notice of it at first, but it began to get worse all the time, and then I began to get uneasy and tried all kinds of baths and other remedies that were recommended for skin humors; but I became worse all the time. My hair began to fall out and my scalp itched all the time. Especially at night, just as soon as I would get in bed and get warm, my whole body would begin to itch and my finger nails would keep it irritated, and it was not long before I could not rest night or day. A friend asked me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I did, and the first application helped me wonderfully. For about four weeks I would take a hot bath every night and then apply the Cuticura Ointment to my whole body; and I kept getting better, and by the time I used four boxes of Cuticura I was entirely cured, and my hair stopped falling out, but I continue to use the Cuticura on my scalp. It keeps all dandruff out and scalp is always clean. I always use Cuticura Ointment on my face after shaving, and have found nothing to equal it. I will never be without it." D. E. Blankenship, 319 N. Del. St., Oct. 27, 1905. Indianapolis, Ind.

RECOMMENDED TO ALL MOTHERS

"I have used Cuticura Ointment for chafing of infants, and as they grew older all skin diseases were given treatment with that and the Cuticura Soap. I never found it necessary to call a doctor, as these Remedies are a sure cure, if used as directed. I am glad to recommend them to all mothers." Sincerely yours, Mrs. F. A. Kennard, June 21, 1905. St. Paul Park, Minn.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. Mailed Free, "How to Care for the Skin."
